ALLIES' ATTITUDE TOWARDS GREECE IS EXPECTED TO BE DEFINED BEFORE WEEK ENDS

Whole Military Policy in Near East, Including Dardanelles, to be Outlined.

DECISIONS OF COUNCIL

Kitchener Expected to Report Best Means of Handling Greek Situation.

Believed General Monro Favors Leaving Dardanelles.

London, Nov. 18. — The attitude of the Entente Allies toward Greece, from which country they are endeavoring to get a definite guarantee for the safety of the French, British and Serbian troops and the whole military policy in the Near East, including the Dardanelles, will, it is expected, be made clear before the end of the present week.

Important Decisions Reached.

The council at Paris, in which British and French cabinet ministers took part, came to important decisions, and Earl Kitchener, looking over the ground both in Gallipoli and the Balkans, is to report on the best means of dealing with the situation arising out of the Austro-German and Bulgarian successes in Serbia and Greece's leanings toward the Central Powers.

It transpired today during the debate in the house of lords that General Sir Charles Monro, the recently appointed commander-in-chief in the Dardanelles, has already given his opinion as to what should be the future policy with regard to the Gallipoli campaign, and Lord Ribblesdale, who introduced the subject, said he understood that the report of the general favored withdrawal. The Marquis of Lansdowne replied that the report and the evidence accompanying it was not considered sufficient to enable the government to come to a conclusion.

Successful Attack Against Turks.

The statement had hardly been made when the war office issued an account of a successful British attack on the Turkish trenches on either side of the Krithia Nullah, which led to the belief that Lord Kitchener, who is on the peninsula, and who went out after General Monro's report had been received, had decided to persist in the operations.

Andrew Bonar-Law, the colonial secretary, assured the house of commons that the decision would be left to the military experts, and the question of the loss of prestige would have no weight.

As to Greece, it is reported in dispatches from Rome that immediate action will be taken and no delay will be tolerated. It is said that Italy will take an important part in the forthcoming developments. The action will naturally depend upon the attitude King Constantine and his ministers assume toward the Entente Powers.

Serbian Situation More Serious.

Meanwhile the situation in Serbia grows more serious. The Austro-German armies with the Bulgarians on their left, are pushing southward, driving the inferior Serbian forces before them, while in the south the Bulgarians, reinforced by men and guns from Von Gallwitz's army, are pressing on toward Monastir, from which town they are said to be only a few hours' march.

There is some uncertainty as to the Serbians' line of retreat. Some dispatches say they are falling back on Monastir where there are British reinforcements; others that they are retreating on Ochrida, on the southern Albanian front. The French have inflicted a serious defeat on the Bulgarians on the Varda river and it is unofficially reported that the British have had a success on the Valandovo front.

The big guns are continuing their lively bombardment in the west while in the East there has been no change.

WOULD ABANDON DARDANELLES?

Interpretation Given Report Made by General Charles C. Monro.

London, Nov. 18.—Baron Ribblesdale said in the house of lords today in addressing a question to the Marquis of Lansdowne, that he understood Lieut. Gen. Sir Charles C. Monro, commander of the British expedition at the Dardanelles, had reported in favor of the withdrawal of the British army at the Dardanelles.

The Marquis of Lansdowne announced the government asked Earl Kitchener to visit the eastern Mediterranean because, in its opinion, the report of Sir Charles Monro and the evidence accompanying it did not seem sufficient to enable the government to come to a conclusion upon the great questions of policy involved.

The announcement of the Marquis of Lansdowne was made in response to Baron Ribblesdale's question whether General Monro favored the withdrawal of the British army from the Dardanelles. Earl Kitchener was reported yesterday as leaving Mudros for the Gallipoli peninsula.

Speaking of the visit of the British cabinet members to Paris, Lord Lansdowne said it was the most important step yet taken in connection with the scheme of a closer working contact between the Entente Allies.

There have been other comings and goings, but they were not to be compared in importance with the present visit, Lord Lansdowne added. The independence of Serbia, he declared, was

HILLSTROM TO BE SHOT EARLY TODAY

Governor Spry Declines Further to Interfere.

WIRES THE PRESIDENT

Believes President Made Request Upon Misconception of Case or for Reasons of an International Nature.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 18.—Governor William Spry, with the unanimous concurrence of the state board of pardons, telegraphed President Wilson this afternoon that he would not interfere further in the case of Joseph Hillstrom, sentenced to be shot to death tomorrow. The governor's telegram was in answer to one received yesterday from the President requesting a reconsideration of the case. Arrangements for the execution have been completed.

Governor Spry said in his telegram to President Wilson that he is satisfied the President's request is based on a misconception of the facts, or that there is some reason of an international nature that the President has not disclosed; that a further postponement at this time would be an unwarranted interference with the course of justice and that, mindful of the obligations of his oath of office, he cannot and will not lend himself or his office to such interference.

The five men appointed to execute Hillstrom have been directed to report at the prison at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Reviewing the history of the case and particularly the President's action in connection with it, the governor says in his telegram:

Telegram to the President.

"September 30 you requested a stay of execution of the sentence to give the Swedish minister an opportunity to present his view of the case. Upon the same day, at your request only, on the assumption that you were in possession of facts not presented to the board, I granted a respite until October 16, especially requesting that Swedish minister personally investigate the case and appear before the board. Under date of October 1, you advised me that your only reason for interceding was the request of the representative of a foreign government. October 26 at the regular board meeting an open hearing was had in further consideration of the case. Hillstrom's attorney advised board that there was nothing further to present and that Hillstrom declined to appear before the board again. The

ILLEGAL TRAFFIC IN MUNITIONS ALLEGED

Victor Sly Defendant in Case in Court in London.

Charged With Dealing in War Material Without License—Secret Code Said to Have Been Found in His Office.

London, Nov. 18.—A case having to do with alleged illegal traffic in war material and involving the name of the Duke of Manchester, was heard in the Bow street court today. Victor Sly was the defendant in the case, charged with dealing in war materials without a license. The prosecutor said that Sly's office had been searched and that a secret code with the Duke of Manchester, now in Paris, was found. The code covered various war materials and many cablegrams had passed between Sly and persons in New York, whose names were given as Barnes and Barter, regarding contracts with Russia.

Sly had applied to the government for a permit to deal in munitions, which, the prosecutor said, was promptly refused. Sly's application stated that he represented the Federal Manufacturing Company, of Chattanooga, the Oliver Manufacturing Company, of Knoxville; John W. Garland, of Pittsburg, all in the United States, and various Canadian concerns.

"It seems," said the prosecutor, "that after Sly had been warned that he was rendering himself liable to prosecution, he and the Duke of Manchester put their heads together to hoodwink the authorities by communicating with each other in regard to these matters in secret code."

One of Sly's cablegrams, which was produced in court, was addressed:

"Pretty Maid," which was declared to be the cable address of "Barnes, Exchange Place, New York," and read, "Send Petrograd by Saturday names of factories with two million Mausers."

Sly was remanded in custody as he was unable to find bail which was fixed at $10,000.

WOULD BE WORLD'S BIGGEST WARSHIPS

Tentative Plans for Two 36,000-Ton Battleships.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

Would Be Included in First Year of Five-Year Building Programme—Daniels to Urge Government Armor Plant.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Tentative plans are being considered, Secretary Daniels said today, for two 36,000-ton battleships to be included in the first year's part of the five-year building programme Congress will be asked to approve. There are no warships so large afloat anywhere in the world. The biggest ever designed for the American navy are the 32,000-ton craft of the California class, bids for two of which were received yesterday.

Part of the increased displacement in the newest ships will be due to changed hull construction to provide additional torpedo defense bulkheads. While the ships' general characteristics have not been disclosed, they probably will have increased armament and speed. The navy has developed a 16-inch rifle, and the new ships may carry ten or more of these if developments of the European war indicate the wisdom of mounting them. The largest guns now afloat are the 15-inch weapons of European navies, which the American 14-inch rifles is said to equal for all practical purposes.

No Report on Private Bids.

Secretary Daniels has received no report on the examination of private bids received yesterday for battleships 43 and 44, all of which appeared to be above the limit fixed by Congress. It is understood, however, a careful analysis of the exceptions to advertised specifications bears out the indications that private builders will not attempt to construct the hulls and machinery of the ships within the $7,800,000 limit.

Neither ship can be laid down before the next summer, it is said for lack of structural steel, the war having swept the American steel market clean. Secretary Daniels showed considerable concern today over this fact. He intimated that unless some arrangement could be made with steel plants to insure preference for government orders Congress might be asked to act. Anembargo on exportation of to act. An embargo on exportation of supplied has been suggested.

Urge Establishment of Armor Plant.

Mr. Daniels said the armor was not in such great demand as structural steel abroad since there was no increase in price over a year ago or any delay in delivery suggested. He will again urge Congress, however, to authorize construction of a government armor plant, and will also seek appropriations to fit the Philadelphia and Mare Island yards for battleship building. He said today he believed the government should be equipped to do all the work necessary on a battleship, even to rolling the steel should an emergency arise. Such a plant, he declared, though it should never "beat a pound of metal" would have a salutory effect in fixing prices to be paid for new battleships privately built.

DENOUNCES AVIATION SERVICE OF THE ARMY

Says Direction of the Men in Charge Invites Disaster.

Counsel for Colonel Goodier, Being Tried Before Court Martial, Says "Favoritism and Incompetence Run Riot."

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Conditions in the United States army aviation service and the men at the head of it were denounced today by William F. Humphrey, civilian counsel for Lieutenant Colonel Lewis E. Goodier, advocate of the Western Department, during his closing argument for the defense in the court martial of Goodier, charged with conduct prejudicial to military discipline.

"At this time, when aviation is so important a part of the Nation's defense and such men as Colonel Reber and Captain Arthur S. Cowan stand at the head of the service," Humphrey said, "it is an invitation to disaster. The American people are waiting to see how long Captain Cowan will remain at the head of the aviation school. The evidence here has shown that favoritism and incompetence run riot in the service and; with it are coupled the strong arm methods of Tammany."

Both Humphrey and Captain Allen J. Greer, military counsel for Colonel Goodier, reviewed evidence adduced during the court martial at which both Colonel Reber, chief of the aviation section of the signal corps, and Captain Arthur S. Cowan, commandant of the North Island army aviation school, near San Diego, testified.

It was charged that Colonel Goodier exceeded his proper duties in advising aviation officers to file charges against Captain Cowan last April. These charges were not pressed and later Colonel Goodier was brought before court martial.

Correspondence that passed between Colonel Reber at Washington and Captain Cowan was introduced.

The trial came to an end late today when the court martial, after an hour and a half deliberation, announced that a verdict had been reached and that the findings would be forwarded to Washington as soon as possible.

TO FURTHER PROBE GORICAR'S CHARGES

Activities of Members of the Austrian Embassy Alleged.

IN FOMENTING STRIKES

Justice Department Also Announces It Has Information Which May Lead to Other Indictments for Passport Frauds.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Further investigation of the activities of Austrian Consul General Von Vuber and his associates will be made by the Department of Justice as a result of yesterday's conference in New York between A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the Bureau of Investigations, and Dr. Joseph Goricar, former Austrian consul. A department statement announcing this tonight also said that information had been obtained which probably would lead to further indictments for passport frauds.

Mr. Bielaski, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, returned this morning after his visit to New York during which he conferred with Mr. Rathom, editor of the Providence Journal, and Dr. Goricar.

"While Dr. Goricar may not be able to testify directly to all matters under investigation," he said, "much information of a valuable nature was obtained concerning the activities of Austrian Consul General Von Vuber and his associates, the details of which cannot be disclosed at present."

Dr. Goricar's Charge.

Dr. Goricar recently charged in published statements that the Austro-Hungarian consular service in this country, under the direction of Consul General Von Nuber and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, carried on propaganda for fomenting strikes in munitions plants.

Formal denial of all these allegations was made to the State Department several days ago by the Austro-Hungarian embassy, and this was followed today by a dispatch from Baron Burian, Austrian foreign minister, authorizing Baron Zwiedinek, charge of the embassy, to make "categorical and official denial of these inventions." No intimation was given at the Department of Justice tonight as to the form its investigations now will take, nor concerning the nature of any action which may follow when all information is in hand.

Storm Sweeping Atlantin Coast

WARNINGS ORDERED UP LAST NIGHT FROM FLORIDA TO MAINE; ALSO ALONG THE GREAT LAKES.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Storm developments of the last 24 hours, characterized by the weather bureau as "the most remarkable in many years," cause warnings to be ordered up tonight along the Atlantic seaboard from Jacksonville, Fla., to Eastport, Me., and at Great Lakes ports.

Two intense storm centers have appeared, one central late tonight on the South Carolina coast and moving northeastward, and the other in the lower Ohio valley moving toward lakes Erie and Ontaria. The Southern storm, apparently the more severe, already has interrupted communication tonight on the Georgia coast, the bureau announced, and was expected to develop "dangerous easterly gales from Hatteras to the New England coast within the next 12 to 24 hours."

Local damages reported last night at 1 o'clock were of small importance. The principal reports were that one of the Corn Show parade floats on Market street was blown against an auto in which Mr. Hugh MacRae was riding. The auto was pretty well shaken up, but no one hurt. Part of the tin roof of the shed of the Front Street Market House was blown away, and the door of Hall's blacksmith shop, on Water street near the wharf, was blown off its hinges.

NORWEGIAN BARK ASHORE

Other Damage Done by Wind and Rain at Brunswick, Ga.

Atlanta, Nov. 18.—The Norwegian bark Killenga was driven ashore at Brunswick, Ga., and other damage was done by a heavy wind and rain storm which swept the South Atlantic coast from Florida to Charleston, S. C., late today. Wire communication was demoralized and only meagre reports had been received late tonight from the storm-swept section.

The bark Killena was reported in bad condition with fears entertained that she may be battered to pieces. The crew reached shore but the captain elected to stand by his ship. The Killena carried 5,000 barrels of rosin for Norwegian ports.

It was officially reported that the wind reached a velocity of 50 miles at hour at Charleston, S. C.

Two unidentified persons were reported to have been killed when the storm struck a turpentine camp near Waycross, Ga. Many smaller towns still were cut off from communication late tonight.

Amsterdam, (via London), Nov. 18.—According to newspaper reports, the Norwegian steamer Ulriken, 1,454 tons, from New York for Rotterdam has been sunk with the loss of five members of her crew.

Housewives' Leader Endorsed Some Soup.

Mrs. Julian Heath.

The National Housewives' League, of which Mrs. Julian Heath, of Brooklyn, is president, is under investigation by members of the organization. Some of those whose homes are in New Jersey have risen in revolt. They want for one thing to know why Mrs. Heath endorsed a certain brand of soup. Circulars were received by the members in which the soup was endorsed. The magazine of the organization also contained an endorsement. Why and how? the members ask.

A committee which went to the national headquarters to examine the books of the organization was refused permission.

COMPLETE INQUIRY LIKELY TO FOLLOW

Regarding Austria's Conduct of Submarine Warfare.

RESULT ANCONA CASE

America is Firm in View That Lives of Americans Are in Jeopardy When Placed in Open Boats on the High Seas.

Washington, Nov. 18.—While the United States will wait for the Austrian reply to Ambassador Penfield's inquiry concerning the circumstance under which the Italian liner Ancona was sunk, before making representations to Vienna, it was stated officially today that the placing of American citizens in small boats on the high seas was not regarded as according to a "place of safety" within the meaning of the term as used in international law.

In its correspondence with Germany over the Frye case, the American government expressed the view that open boats did not constitute a place of safety. This was broadened today by an official interpretation to apply to American citizens whether traveling on belligerent or neutral ships.

May Develop Entire Question.

Officials qualified their assertions somewhat by stating that if a vessel was destroyed within a few miles of shore, life boats would be regarded as safe, but that weather conditions and the opportunity given for passengers to be transferred even then were pertinent circumstances. From these intimations it generally was believed tonight the American government would develop the entire question of submarine warfare further in correspondence with Austria and that even though, as the Austrian admiralty had declared, 45 minutes was given for the passengers and crew of the Ancona to be transferred this was not regarded as affording American citizens sufficient opportunity to be saved.

The United States has insisted throughout that the operations of submarines shall not "jeopardize the lives of American citizens" and notwithstanding the formal denial from Vienna that the Ancona was shelled after she stopped, the fact that the ship actually was torpedoed while a number of passengers still were aboard is regarded as the chief circumstance upon which representations will be made.

The first official report alleging that the submarine continued shelling the Ancona after she had halted reached the State Department today in a consular dispatch outlining an affidavit made by Dr. Cecile Greil, of New York, the only known native American survivor of the tragedy.

An affidavit by Dr. Cecile L. Greil directly contradicts the Austro-Hungarian government's official statement that the ship was not shelled by the attacking submarine after she stopped. The State Department today was notified of the existence of the affidavit by consular dispatches.

Secretary Lansing will take no action, however, until information of a more definite character is received.

Such information is expected by cable. The State Department considers Mrs. Greil's charge that the submarine fired on the Ancona after the ship stop-

BRITISH CAPTURE ESCAPED GERMAN

Said to be Officer From the Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

IS REPORT TO LONDON

Was on Board Danish Steamer Searched in the North Sea—Eight Others Still Missing From Cruisers at Norfolk.

London, Nov. 18.—Lieut. Henry Koch, one of the officers of the interned German auxiliary cruisers Prinz Eitel Friedrich, who violated his parole and left Norfolk in the middle of October, has been taken off a Danish steamer in the North Sea by the British naval authorities. Lieut. Koch, who was sailing as a seaman, joined the steamer at Baltimore, giving his nationality as Dutch.

London, Nov. 15. — A German naval lieutenant from the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, who broke his parole at Norfolk, is in the hands of the British naval authorities, according to information here today. The lieutenant was captured on board a Danish steamer which was searched in the North Sea early in the week. He was found among the crew, and was identified by an official who knew him before the outbreak of the war.

Two officers of the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, Lieut. Koch and Dr. Kroneck, disappeared from the vessel at Norfolk, where she was interned, on October 17.

Captain Thierichens, commander of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, when he learned of the disappearance of the men from his vessel, expressed his regrets to Rear Admiral Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard.

In addition to Dr. Kroneck and Lieut. Koch, six warrant officers are missing from the cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, also interned at Norfolk. They put to sea in a yacht which they bought, and their whereabouts is a mystery.

One civilian, Dr. Nulte, disappeared from the Prinz Eitel last May, and recently a fireman escaped.

ONE ARRESTED IN BALTIMORE.

Admiral Beatty to See if Man Held is One of Missing Germans.

Baltimore, Nov. 18. — Admiral Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, telegraphed Police Marshal Carter today that he would come to Baltimore tomorrow to see the man held here for the United States authorities as a suspected parole breaker from the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, at Norfolk. The man is believed by the local authorities to be Otto Unger, of the Eitel's crew. He was arrested here Tuesday night and Admiral Beatty requested that the prisoner be held until he could see him.

WILL ENLARGE MILLS.

11,000 Spindles and More Looms to be Added at Union, S. C., Plant.

Union, S. C., Nov. 18.—Stockholders of the Monarch Cotton Mills at a meeting here today decided to add 11,000 spindles and more looms at the mill, making a full complement of 80,000 spindles and nearly 2,000 looms.

CORN SHOW CLOSES ITS DOORS TONIGHT

Rain and Wind Caused Much Inconvenience Last Night

AWARDING OF PRIZES

Several Special Features Announced for Closing Day of Wilmington's Big Fair—Attendance Has Been Large.

Very unusual weather conditions for this section caused much inconvenience to exhibitors at the Corn and Agricultural Show last night but, with the promise of sunny skies for today, the management announced that everything would be in readiness for the opening of the big tents this morning at 10 o'clock and, as this is the closing day of the big fair, it is expected that the attendance will be fully as large as that of any previous day. The admissions for the first three days have been more than 12,000.

After two days of as fine weather as could be wished for, yesterday brought threatening clouds and shortly after noon it began to rain. The attendance, however, was large and all the afternoon, there was a big crowd of admiring spectators, many of whom had come in from other counties to see the splendid array of exhibits. Observer Feiger hung up a northeast storm warning during the morning and late in the afternoon, the wind came and with it a driving rain that made it decidedly unpleasant to be out on the streets.

Prizes Are Awarded.

The awarding of prizes yesterday by the judges was announced and was one of the interesting features of the Fair. Bladen county was given the banner for the best county exhibit.

There are a number of interesting features announced for today. There will be special music by Mrs. Luck's orchestra and also by the Hanover Concert band. The Baby Show this afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of North Carolina Sorosis will be another interesting feature.

The colored people of the city were given an opportunity yesterday morning to inspect the exhibits and hundreds of them availed themselves of the privilege.

A lecture last night by Mr. L. B. Cook, dairy expert of the United States Department of Agriculture, given at the Victoria theatre, was a most instructive exposition for those present. The rain kept the attendance from being large.

Today marks the close of the fair and, while some of the exhibits had to be removed last night, they will be put back this morning and the fair will continue until tonight at 10 o'clock. The closing feature of Wilmington's big week will be the Corn Show ball tomorrow night.

Corn Club Awards.

Messrs. J. T. Kerr, Addison Hewlett and J. A. Orrell, judges for the Boys' and Men's Corn Club prizes, submitted their report yesterday afternoon. On account of a lack of information, it was a rather hard task. No prizes were given the men because of a lack of particulars.

John L. Johnson, of Bladen county, who produced 105.5 bushels of corn on an acre at a total cost of $15.72, was given the first prize of $10 for boys, and Kenneth K. Murray, of Wilmington, R. F. D., who produced 71.25 bushels at a cost of $25.77, was given the second prize of $7.50.

Others in the contest were: Norwood Vann, 75 bushels at a total cost of 8.10; J. P. Walton, Jr., of Seagate, 46 bushels at a cost of $9.50; James P. Page, of Willard, 127 bushels; Thompson McEacken, of Southport, 120 bushels; S. T. Stephens, of Ingold, 66.5 bushels. The winners of prizes were there and tried to give full and complete particulars as to the cost of fertilizers, cultivation, preparation, seed and planting, according to requirements.

The following yields were reported by men but no figures as to cost were given: D. J. Bloodworth, Willard, 93 bushels; H. C. Blake, 81.7 bushels; Ed Suggs, East Wilmington, 103.55 bushels; H. Cole, Jr., East Wilmington, 107 3-16 bushels.

An interesting exhibit in the farm machinery section of the show is a revolving, disc harrow, attachable to any plow and readily adjustable to meet any condition, the same being a recent invention of Mr. J. D. Lowry, of this city. Mr. Lowry has had a model of the revolving harrow made and attached to an Oliver plow and it is attracting much attention by those at all acquainted with agricultural needs in the machinery line. A patent has been applied for and Mr. Lowry expects to have the revolving harrows made in Wilmington. He is personally in charge of the exhibit and will be pleased to talk to anyone about the new device.

Agricultural Awards.

Following are the awards in the agricultural department:

Lettuce—E. Walton, first; Addison Hewlett, second.

DANIELS IN A CLASH WITH COURT MARTIAL

Result of Findings in Trial of Three Navy Officers.

Verdict in Case of Men Tried for Boiler Explosion on Cruier San Diego —Miscarriage of Justice, Secretary Says.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Secretary Daniels has clashed with the Navy court martial which tried two commissioned officers and one warrant officer for responsibility for the boiler explosion on the cruiser San Diego last January, and today issued a statement taking exception to the court's findings and disclosing that on the Navy Department's disapproval the court altered its first verdict.

The court first acquitted the officers and then changed its verdict to hold Lieut. K. L. Hill, in charge of the fire room, guilty of the sentence and to lose 40 numbers with recommendation for clemency. Edison C. Oak, chief engineer of the ship, was acquitted of negligence.

Chief Machinist Thomas O'Donnell was found not guilty. As the court refused to reverse its verdict as to Oak, Secretary Daniels remitted the sentence in Hill's case and issued a statement declaring the verdict was a miscarriage of justice.

"I am unwilling to believe that the ideals of duty and responsibility of all members of the court are so low as to exonerate Lieut. Oak, of neglect of duty," said the Secretary's statement.

CAUSED NINE DEATHS

Five of the Cruiser San Diego's Sixteen Boilers Blew Out.

Vallejo, Cal., Nov. 18.—The court martial of Lieut. Kinchen L. Hill, Chief Engineer Edson C. Oak and Chief Machinist Thomas O'Donnell followed the death of nine men on board the cruiser San Diego, January 21, 1915, during her annual speed test for the navy efficiency pennant. Five of her sixteen boilers blew out during the last few minutes of a four hour run under forced draft.

It was testified at the trial that all the officers were involved and the men knew that a feed pipe supplying water to the boilers had collapsed, but they decided to take a "sporting chance" in order to finish the test and have a try for the pennant.

MONTHLY SCHOOL REPORT

High School the Biggest in Wilmington's History—Re-Arranging.

The main feature of the regular monthly meeting of the school committeemen of the city yesterday at noon, was the report of Superintendent J. J. Blair. There was a good attendance of the committeemn and Mr. J. Allan Taylor, chairman of the joint committees, presided.

Superintendent Blair's report was a detailed account of the school work for the month of October, all the way from the re-arranging of school attendances, new play grounds, to general work of the pupils and the enrollment. The report contained many encouraging facts, among them being that the high school enrollment is the greatest in its history.

Superintendent Blair is ever on the alert and each unpleasant fact was introduced as an argument for a remedy he suggested. The fact that boys begin dropping off after they pass the sixth grade was used as an argument in favor of manual training to keep the boys interested. Mr. Blair suggested that the carpenters' trade be taught, and that much could thus be saved the community in repair expenses, besides the more important fact that the boys could be taught to make themselves useful.

The report showed that the shifting of students was pretty near complete and that the different schools were well provided for. The report was very favorable for the moonlight schools. It also showed that Fire Prevention and the playground opening have been very beneficial.

FRIDAY NIGHT LEAGUE

Interesting Games Expected Tonight at Boys' Brigade Armory.

The line-up of the Friday Night League of the Boys' Brigade basket ball promises to be one of the most interesting of the series. The first game will be between the Seminoles, Captain Sholar, and the Dodgers, Captain Montgomery. The second game will be between the Reds, Captain Gallagher, and Braves, Captain Snakenburg. The first game will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

The Braves team has been strengthened by Mr. Dixon, an old Brigade player, who has just returned to the city after an absence of some time. They won their first game of the series last Friday night, and are going to hustle to bring up their percentages tonight.

Many ladies attend the games at the armory, which are becoming more popular every week.

WEAK AND TIRED WOMAN

Tells How Vinol Made Her Strong.

Wilmington women who are weak, run down and suffer from the consequent effects of such a condition, will be interested in Mrs. Odell's letter. She says:

"I am a farmer's wife and was all run down, weak, tired, and suffered from indigestion, and sometimes it seemed as though I could not keep around and do my housework. I had taken many medicines without benefit. One day I saw Vinol advertised, and made up my mind to try it. I have taken four bottles and have gained seven pounds in weight, am much stronger, and feel many years younger than before." Sarah Odell, Lockport, N. Y

The reason Vinol builds up weak, run down women so quickly is because it contains a delicious combination of the three most successful tonics, peptonate of iron to enrich and revitalize the blood, the strength-creating, body-building elements of fresh cods' livers without oil, and beef peptone.

We want to say to every weak, rundown, overworked woman in Wilmington that we will return your money if Vinol fails to help you as it did Mrs. Odell. Robert R. Bellamy, Druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

OPPOSES EFFORTS TO WEAKEN SEAMEN'S LAW

Federation of Labor Gives Its Endorsement of Act.

Regret Expressed at "Misinterpretation" of Provisions of the Act by the Department of Commerce —Resolution.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—The Seamens' act was endorsed unanimously today by resolution in the 35th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Opposition was expressed to any efforts to weaken the measure and regret was voiced at the interpretation of several provisions by the Department of Commerce.

"We protest most earnestly," read the resolution, "against any weakening of the legislation and we urge that it be strengthened in its safety provisions. We regret that the Department of Commerce has deemed it its duty to give to some of its provisions a construction which we believe to be contrary, not only to the spirit of the law, but to the letter."

The resolution is referred to ruling on some of the safety provisions and to its application to foreign vessels, exempted in some cases from certain sections of the law.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union, called the "father" of labor, in an address to the convention said the measure would help rather than hinder efforts to re-establish a merchant marine.

Delegates said no further action was contemplated in the Hillstrom case in which the Federation passed resolutions Tuesday, appealing to President Wilson, Governor Spry and the Utah state board of pardons to accomplish a reconsideration of the case.

THEY JUSTIFY DOCTOR FOR ALLOWING INFANT TO DIE.

Autopsy is Held Over the Bollinger Baby in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—An autopsy over Baby Bollinger, the defective infant who died last night after his mother and the attending physician agreed not to attempt to prolong life, was held today by H. G. W. Reinhardt, coroner's physician, and W. D. McNally, city chemist. Their conclusions are said to have sustained previously expressed beliefs that the infant was doomed either to death or a life of anguish and to have justified Dr. H. J. Haiselden, who allowed the child to die when an operation might have saved its life. The inquest before a jury of physicians was continued until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

RELEASED FROM QUARANTINE

Ban on Tick Infected Cattle Removed From Bladen, Sampson and Johnston.

Of considerable interest in Wilmington and thorughout this section is the announcement, made by the United States Department of Agriculture and appearing in the advertising columns of The Star this morning, that, effective December 1, 1915, the counties of Bladen, Sampson and Johnston will be released from the cattle quarantine, which has been in effect in those counties for quite a while.

This means that the agents of the department have so far completed their campaign for the eradication of the cattle tick in those counties that the department considers it safe for cattle to be exported from those counties to other counties.

A Thanksgiving Window.

One of the first stores in the city to put on Thanksgiving airs is the people's Supply Company, No. 206 North Front street. Their attractive window was trimmed by Mr. Haar and Mr. Long. It is a beautiful Thanksgiving design, made principally of cranberries, loaf sugar and Malaga grapes. The entire store has put in some new improvements and expects to do a big Thanksgiving business.

Suit for Personal Injuries.

Through his attorneys, J. C. King and Woodus Kellum, Esqs., Ned Elverton, colored, started suit in Superior Court yesterday against F. S. Slaff, trading as the Slaff Lumber Co., and F. S. Slaff. It is understood that the suit is for alleged damages which the negro will claim as a result of getting his hand hurt about ten days ago.

The Clark-Lynch Lumber Company has donated the prize of $15 which was awarded them for having the best float in the parade Wednesday to Sorosis to be given as the second prize in the voting contest. The miniature bungalow which won the prize is to be given the girl under 15 years of age receiving the most votes in a popularity contest.

—Policeman R. J. Thompson last night picked up Arthur McNeill, colored, while the negro was trying to carry away a box from the rear of Einstein's store at Front and Grace streets. McNeill has often been in the hands of the police on charges of stealing, and the police officer says he got him red handed this time.

French Bull Dog Won Prize.

Of interest among the prizes won at the Corn Show, that was by some accident not reported to the newspapers by the judges and those in position to keep up with the awards, was the blue ribbon won by Miss Mary Harriss, daughter of Dr. A. H. Harriss, with her French bull dog.

Caught 35-Pound Channel Bass.

Mr. W. L. Beery, popular S. A. L. conductor, reported last night that yesterday afternoon he caught a 35-pound channel bass from the pier at the Seashore Hotel. The fish was landed with a No. 4 O'Shaughnessy hook and a No. 18 line.

Captain Hinton Gets First Prize.

Capt. E. L. Hinton won first prize in the dog contest at the Corn Show, for having the best white collie. Captain Hinton's dog Queen has the distinction of being of the few all white dogs of this breed in the country.

—Mr. J. N. Johnson, of Willard, had his right hand severely mashed at a cotton gin Wednesday. He was brought to the James Walker Memorial Hospital here and had his arm amputated yesterday just above the elbow. He was resting well last night

CONFEDERATE WOMEN'S HOME IS THE STATE'S

Formal Presentation at Fayetteville Last Night.

Accepted by Lieut. Governor Daughtridge, in Absence of Governor Craig—Mrs. Creasy's Offer Accepted With Thanks.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 18.—The Confederate Women's Home erected by the State of North Carolina for dependent wives and widows of Confederate soldiers, was formally turned over to the State tonight. The presentation was made by Colonel James A. Bryan, of Newbern, chairman of the directors of the home. The acceptance for the State was by Lieut. Governor Daughtridge, acting for Governor Craig, who was prevented from attending. Colonel Bryan was master of the ceremonies incident to the presentation.

Col. J. A. Turner, of Louisburg, secretary, read the report of the board of directors. Presented by Col. T. T. Thorne, Mrs. M. O. Winstead, of Rocky Mount, gave to the Home a Victrola, which was accepted by Mrs. H. G. Smith., Mrs. Harllee Townsend, of Fayetteville, read a paper. Mrs. R. E. Little, of Wadesboro, president, of the North Carolina U. D. C., and Mrs. Marshall Williams, of Faison, ex-president, made short talks.

Immediately following the ceremonies a reception was given by the personnel of the board of directors and the members of the women's advisory board.

At a meeting of the board of directors held this afternoon, it was resolved that an offer of Mrs. W. M. Creasy, of Wilmington, recording secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to place in the Home an oil portrait of Mrs. W. M. Parsley, the founder of the U. D. C., be unanimously accepted.

The board also passed resolutions presented by Col. Turner, expressing its special thanks to the North Carolina division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for their patriotic interest in the Home, and to Mrs. Hunter G. Smith, of Fayetteville, for her wise foresight in proposing such an institution to the Daughters of the Confederacy and for pressing its claim from year to year before that organization, and in urging the matter to its final success upon the General Assembly.

A Notable Gathering.

The presentation exercises and reception were attended by many people of prominence in the life of the State. General Jas. I. Meets, of Wilmington, commander of the North Carolina Confederate Veterans, was conspicuous among those in attendance. A president and an ex-president of the North Carolina Division of the Daughters of the Confederacy were among the visitors, these being Mrs. Eugene Little, president, of Wadesboro, and Mrs. Martha Williams, of Faison, former president. Other officers of the State Division of the Daughters present were Mrs. W. M. Creasy, of Wilmington, recording secretary; Mrs. Ingram, of Wadesboro, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thad Thrash, of Tarboro, former recording secretary; Mrs. R. P. Holt, of Rocky Mount, director of children's chapters; Mrs. B. H. Griffin, of Raleigh, chaplain of the North Carolina Division. Many other promtnent Daughters were at the presentation, among them Mrs. J. H. Thorpe, of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Long and Mrs. Richardson, of High Point; Miss Cornelia McMillan, of Red Springs; Mrs. Townsend, of Lumberton; Mrs. Kernodle, of Graham; Mrs. Preston S. Vann, of Lexington; Mr. H. T. Bahnson and Miss Bahnson, of Winston-Salem.

Of course, all the members of the board of directors of the Home and of the woman's advisory board were here.

Handsome and Comfortable.

The Home itself, the handsome and comfortable building, the manner of its furnishing, and its pleasant surroundings are a source of gratification to those who have waited for the day when North Carolina would provide for the dependent women of its Confederate heroes. The building is a pleasing, though not an elaborate, example of present-day architecture. It contains 36 rooms with one wing uncompleted on account of lack of funds. About 30 inmates can be accommodated. A considerable part of the furnishing of the Home has been made possible by endowments by individuals and chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Hunter G. Smith, who originated the idea of establishing this Home, received the inspiration which culminated in today's dedication from coming in contact with a few of the needy women who had borne so nobly their share of war's burden in 1861-65, and whose place was not in a county home, but who in their declining days need a haven of rest more nearly fitting the measure of their sacrifice. When Mrs. Smith made a motion before the Goldsboro Convention in 1908, that a home for Confederate women in North Carolina be erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy, the motion was carried unanimously. A committee was appointed to begin the undertaking. In 1911 the first bill relative to the Home was introduced in the Legislature by Hon. A. D. McGill, of Cumberland, (now a member of the board of directors of the institution). This bill provided for a Home to be established as an annex to the Soldiers' Home, but it was found that this would not be satisfactory, and further consideration of the matter was postponed until the 1913 session of the Legislature. At the next session the bill providing for the creation of the Home on its present basis was introduced by Hon. T. T. Thorne, of Rocky Mount. This bill provided for a building appropriation of $10,000 and $5,000 per year for maintenance. By some mistake the money was not available for two years. Governor Craig had under the act appointed a board of directors, with the late Col. Ashley Horne, of Clayton, chairman, but though several meetings were held it was found nothing could be done until the money was turned over in 1915. At the 1915 session the U. D. C. committee for the second time went before the Legislature and secured an additional $5,000.

RATE ON HOLLOW TILE

Subject of Hearing Before Corporation Commission.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—The Corporation Commission gave a special hearing today in the petition for the commission to establish a standard classification rate for freight on hollow tile in this State. The making of this class of tile in this State is a new industry and the manufacturers and the railroad freight traffic managers have not been able to agree on the classification for original shipment from the plant. The Pomona Terra Cotta Company is the petitioner. It will be some days before the rate will be established by the commission.

SHORTAGE OF CARS DUE TO SHORTAGE OF SHIP TONNAGE.

Thousands Tied Up at Ports, Says Railway Age Gazette.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The shortage of freight cars reported from various parts of the country is largely caused by a shortage of vessel capacity as a result of the war in Europe, which has caused congestion of cars at Atlantic and Gulf ports, tying up thousands for which shippers elsewhere are clamoring, according to the Railway Age Gazette. The monthly bulletin of the committee on relations between railroads of the American Railway Association showed that on November 1 there was a shortage of 2*,628 cars and a surplus of 52,867, the smallest net surplus since the fall of 1913.

$10,000 FIRE AT WILSON.

Two-Story Brick Building Occupied by Hagan Company Is Gutted.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Nov. 18.—For the first time in five years Wilson suffered a disastrous fire this morning when the two-story brick building on Barnes street, occupied by the R. E. Hagan Roofing & Metal Company, was gutted. The second story was used by the Wilson Light Infantry as their armory. The fire was discovered shortly after 3 o'clock and was a stubborn blaze. For three hours the department fought and succeeded in confining the flames to the Hagan building. The fire started in the ceiling and the cause is unknown. Mr. Hagan places his loss at $10,000 and has $4,000 insurance.

COTTON SUPPLY WILL LAST SEVERAL YEARS

Germany Claims; Also New Fields of Supply Are Open.

Says While Allies Have Cut Off Supply to Switzerland It Will Not Affect Germany's Wants for Military Needs.

Berlin, Nov. 18, (by Wireless to Sayville)—Germany not only has all the cotton she needs for military purposes for several years, but new fields of supply are now open to her, says the Overseas News Agency today.

Prevention of cotton shipments to Switzerland on the contention that the material would find its way to Germany and be used for making explosives will hurt the neutral nations, but will not injure Germany, it declares, in commenting on Swiss reports that the Entente Powers have stopped cotton shipments for Swiss mills. Competent German authorities state that the German army is satisfactorily provided with cotton for several years."

The news agency says:

"In addition huge quantities can be obtained from Turkey by way of the Danube and even if all shipments were stopped, Germany is provided with the material for an indefinite time."

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD TO DEMAND AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Preparations Being Made to Make Formal Demand Upon the Railroads.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 18.—The four railroad brotherhoods, including more than 350,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen on all railroads in the United States, are preparing to make formal demand about March 1, that the railroads grant them an eight-hour day at the same pay they now get for ten hours. Action will be taken at a meeting of the executive committee of the brotherhoods in Chicago, December 15, when ballots for a referendum will be prepared.

The eastern associations of the general chairmen of the engineers and firemen brotherhoods in joint session here last night decided to join the conductors and trainmen's brotherhoods in the eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime demands. Similar action is expected at the meeting of Southern associations of engineers and firemen at Washington next Monday, and of the Western association at Chicago December 10th.

SAYS DESTRUCTION OF BIRDS COSTS BILLION DOLLARS YEAR

And Causes $100,000,000 Loss in Cotton by Boll Weevil.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Destruction of birds, according to Col. G. O. Shields, president of the League of American Sportsmen, costs the United States a billion dollars a year. Colonel Shields so stated in an address before the Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution today. Cotton growers, he said, lose $100,000,000 a year by the boll weevil. Why? Because the quail, the prairie chickens, the meadow larks and other birds which were formerly there in millions have been swept away by thoughtless men and boys."

Colonel Shields added that potato growers pay $17,000,000 a year for spraying poisons and remarked that a quail slain in Pennsylvania had 127 potato bugs in its crop.

The counties in North Carolina to be released are Bladen, Johnston and Sampson. Previous releases bring the total for the year's work to about 50,000 square miles, the greatest area released in any one year since systematic tick eradication was begun eight years ago. P. R. A.

MEMBERS OF AMERICAN CREW GIVEN SENTENCES IN ENGLAND

Liverpool, Nov. 18.—Twelve Americans, members of the crew of the American Line steamer New York, which arrived here Monday from New York, were today sentenced to 14 days imprisonment at hard labor for leaving their vessel when they were unprovided with passports and after permission to land had been refused them. Another American, who had previously been before the court for violation of the alien regulations, was sentenced to 28 days imprisonment at hard labor.

DENIED NEW TRIAL.

Judge Lindsay of Denver's Juvenile Court, Fined $500.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 18.—Ben B. Lindsay, judge of Denver's juvenile court, today was denied a new trial by Judge John Perry in district court here. Lindsay recently was fined $500 and costs for contempt of court as a result of his refusal to divulge as a witness information imparted in a conversation with Neal Wright, 12, whose mother was being tried fo rthe murder of her husband.

DR. H. B. CARTER STRICKEN.

Contracts Tropical Fever He Was Fighting in Porto Rico.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Dr. Henry B. Carter, veteran yellow fever fighter of the United States Public Health Service, has been stricken in Porto Rico with dengue, the malignant tropical fever against which he recently inaugurated a campaign on the island. A cablegram to the service today announcing the doctor's illness said his condition was serious, but that his recovery was expected.

Dr. Carter is well known to many in Eastern North Carolina, where he spent several weeks in the summer and fall of 1912 investigating the causes of malaria and suggesting ways and means of eliminating it. He visited most of the cities and larger towns in the tidewater section of the State at that time.

NEW PHASE IN TRIAL OF NEW HAVEN RAILROAD OFFICIALS

New York, Nov. 18.—The trial of the 11 former New York, New Haven & Hartford directors entered into a new phase today when the government began the presentation of its testimony to show how the New Haven acquired control of the Boston & Maine railroad, which virtually completed the alleged monopoly which the directors are charged with having conspired to create.

Through Charles S. Mellen, the government brought out that the negotiations for the control of the road were conducted by him in 1907 with Lewis Cass Ledyard, who represented the American Express Company's majority holdings of Boston & Maine stock, and who is one of the defendants. Mellen testified that he learned that the American Express interests were going to sell, chiefly because they were dissatisfied with their investment, and that he (the witness) regarded the situation that might be created so serious that it was decided to buy the stock rather than have it go into the hands of other interests. The New Haven agreed to buy the stock, he said, giving New Haven stock for it share for share.

SENTIMENT AGAINST MR. KITCHIN

We confess to tolerance of the individual opinions and convictions of others, hence we have never considered it proper to fly up at Representative Claude Kitchin because he is openly opposed to President Wilson's "adequate preparedness" programme. There is nothing personal about it at all, but we are sure nine-tenths of the people of North Carolina will regret Mr. Kitchin's course.

Mr. Kitchin's attitude has created some antagonism to him, as a matter of course, but the probability is that people can differ with him just as he has done with the President without its affecting their personal relations. However, Mr. Kitchin's friends in the Second district cannot approve his position with regard to the necessity of national defense. It is not a personal matter but a matter of national policy of the gravest import to be considered by a patriotic people with convictions just as strong and honest as those of Mr. Kitchin. As between a personal matter and a national duty, Mr. Kitchin's warmest friends will have to give the President their approval for his policy against the mere position of the North Carolina congressman. No American can halt between the opinion of one man and a national policy to be sustained by Americans seeking the safety of their Republic.

It is stated that the overwhelming sentiment in the Second district is contrary to Mr. Kitchin's view. The New York Herald sent one of its representatives to the district and in a letter from Tarboro Monday last he writes that from every part of Representative Kitchin's district comes a swelling chorus of approval of the President's programme for national defense. The Herald correspondent says:

"Going into the counties today where his friends are most numerous, I find he is most vigorously censured for declaring that he will oppose Mr. Wilson's ideas of preparedness. From his intimate political and family friends come sweeping criticisms of his attitude. These persons frown significantly upon the intimation that he is willing to lend even the slightest assistance to any move to block whatever programme of military and naval defense the President believes the nation should have.

"Tarboro one of the most substantial business and agricultural centers in the Second Congress district, which Mr. Kitchin represents, went on record today flatly and unqualifiedly in favor of the President. Men associated with Mr. Kitchin gave their fullest approval to the recommendations of the President.

"Merchants, manufacturers, farmers and planters declared that they regret 'more than we can tell that our Representative assumes to set his personal conviction up against his constituents, his party and his President. They added in many instances that they hope 'he will see a light before the storm of disapproval bursts fiercely about him.'

"Frequently the men of Edgecombe county, in which Tarboro is situated, softly and with a touch of regret said they would not be astonished if Mr. Kitchin should resign, in the event that the President's programme goes through with Mr. Kitchin standing in a hopeless minority. No one, so far as I could learn, takes this very seriously yet, but the thought lurks in the background of all the discussions of the vital Kitchin issue, and that fact in itself shows how deeply to heart the people of this part of North Carolina are taking the matter.

"One thing becomes more and more apparent as inquiry is pushed among the people 'back home.' They want the coasts fortified. They want men trained to fight. They want an army and navy big enough, so that anything the United States may say to a militant Power will be very thoughtfully considered. They want their country to make known to the world that they 'do not have to be afraid.' They don't take much stock down here in the old belief that one should turn the other cheek. And still they don't want war. They know a great deal about war in North Carolina, and after thinking the whole situation over they have decided that preparedness is the most effective way of avoiding trouble and preserving national honor.

"I have asked at least 20 prominent citizens whether they believe that Mr. Kitchin can swing them around to his way of thinking, and they have without exception said that nothing he can say or do can possibly change their full approval of the President's ideas. The sentiment for national preparedness, in fact, has swept the entire district and is becoming more enthusiastic from day to day. Mr. Kitchin has made no talks yet to his constituents. The understanding now is that he does not intend to do so; that he is figuring on making a speech against the President's programme in Congress and letting the majority virtually go unopposed.

"At first the criticism was all of the most friendly character. Now it is easy to detect just a note of bitterness in it in spots. One of Mr. Kitchin's friends today told me that the real secret behind Mr. Kitchin's opposition to the President is a natural feeling of unfriendliness for the President. This was shown unmistakably, it was asserted to me, at the Baltimore Convention. Mr. Kitchin was not at first for Mr. Wilson. His attitude has never undergone a change, it is declared. Furthermore, it was declared, Mr. Kitchin has never been friendly with Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, and would not, if he could avoid it, do anything to add any laurels to Mr. Daniels' present collection, such as it is.

"According to the stories told in back offices here, Mr. Daniels' paper, the Raleigh News and Observer, did not support Mr. Kitchin's brother when he was a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Simmons. Therefore, the story goes, Mr. Kitchin has never felt like laying any political tributes at Mr. Daniels' shrine."

The Herald man concludes that the President is supported by nine-tenths of the people in the district, and if Representative Kitchin represents his people instead of himself, it strikes us that he would voice their convictions in support of the President instead of placing his own convictions in the balance with a national matter of the primest necessity. The Herald correspondent doubts if anywhere in the country there can be found more sincere and zealous advocates of national defense than right in the district which Mr. Kitchin said would probably be with him in his opposition to the President's policies, after he had told them his side of the question. There certainly is nothing to indicate that he can change the feeling, it is said, and "to all appearances it is adamant at the present time."

Representative Kitchin has a right to represent the people of his district rather than support the President, if he knows their view, but to go contrary to the district sentiment would indicate a dogmatism so unreasonably strong that the representative should be willing to take the consequences if the people do not regard him as representative of them.

Mr. Kitchin has opposed the President before and it is all the more surprising that during the senatorial campaign in North Carolina a few years ago he, with others who favored the candidacy of his brother, Governor W. W. Kitchin, fought the re-nomination of Senator Simmons on the ground that a Democratic President could not rely upon his support. It seems strange now that Senator Simmons is one of the President's staunchest and ablest supporters as Democratic leader in the Senate, while Representative Kitchin as Democratic leader in the House will pit his convictions against those of the President who is so deeply conscious of his responsibility to the Nation.

A TEST OF WILMINGTON HOSPITALITY

Wilmingtonians appreciate the compliment paid to this city when the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, decided to hold its next annual sitting here during the week beginning December 6. The distinguished Bishop John C. Kilgo, of Charlotte, will preside, and it is a matter of general gratification that our city will have as its honored guest a preacher of such power and eloquence and a scholar of such eminence.

Bishop Kilgo for many years was president of Trinity College, Durham, N. C., one of the leading denominational colleges of this country. It was in his capacity as college president that Dr. Kilgo became one of the most prominent educators in the South and demonstrated his great ability as an institutional administrator. He is a man of marked genius and force of character and his reputation has spread all over the United States because of his striking individuality and his great effectiveness as a pulpit speaker.

Wilmington can but feel honored by the presence of a great Southern Methodist bishop, and our people will be especially gratified that such a large and influential body as the North Carolina Conference will hold its deliberations for a whole week in this city. Not only till a large number of North Carolina ministers gather here, but lay delegates will come from all quarters of the Confeerence bounds.

Wilmington is noted for the largeness and heartiness of her hospitality and the coming of such a large number of visitors as will be here during the first week in December will give our city the opportunity to entertain hundreds of visitors of a class representing one of the greatest Christian denominations in America. It will put our hospitality to a test to entertain such large numbers, so we consider it timely to suggest that Wilmington's proverbial hospitality and traditional cordiality can be broadly exercised by our Christian people regardless of their denominational connection. No doubt our Methodist friends have made arrangements to entertain the ministers and delegates, but without their knowledge we thought it would be a good time to let the Methodists know that our homes are open to conference people not otherwise arranged for at present.

This is an opportunity when it is important for our city to make a most favorable impression and it is an occasion when we can emphasize the fact that Wilmington hospitality is a characteristic of our whole community and not merely that of a group of our good people. We understand that the Conference will bring to our city from 400 to 500 clergymen and laymen besides the visitors who will wish to attend the Conference, hence our city will be thronged with people whose impression of Wilmington should be given thoughtful attention.

TEN THOUSAND BOYS ARE WANTED

Mr. T. E. Browne, of Ahoskie, N. C., director of the Boys' Corn Club work in this State, is already beginning the corn growing campaign for 1916. He wants 10,000 North Carolina boys, and it is to be hoped he will head such a corn growers' army in the great cause which he is so zealously promoting.

The corn club boys have demonstrated the wonderful adaptability of North Carolina for corn growing and the purpose of it all is to make an asset of corn production instead of an experiment. The experimental stage has passed, for the demonstration has been so astonishing in its results that it is vitally important for every farmer in North Carolina to do as well, or even one-fourth as well, as a sixteen-year-old farmer boy.

The value of the demonstration will be nil if intensive corn growing does not result as rapidly as possible throughout the State. The boys cultivate only one acre, so 10,000 boys altogether will be just that many successful units in further emphasizing the fact that 100 or more bushels of corn can be grown on an acre anywhere in Tarhelia. The fathers of the boys in the State or some neighbor can provide the boys with an acre of ground, and for that matter they should enter into a generous rivalry with the youthful corn scientists.

The corn club boys have made a marvelous record during the past few years and now there is a disposition to encourage them in every possible way. As demonstrants the boys have made good and they are wanted to take the lead along other lines as well. The girls also are wanted because they are useful to the State, and the teachers everywhere are being asked to interest and enlist its boys and girls in the great work laid out for them. In a letter sent broadcast Director Browne says:

"In addition to conducting a corn growing contest, we are now organizing the boys into crop rotation clubs, which includes a crop of corn the first year and which is planned to extend over two, three or four years, according to the rotation the boys follow. These proposed rotations will be furnished after the application is received. There are also the pig, poultry, peanut and potato clubs for the boys and girls. The agents in direct charge of the pig club work and of the poultry club worn will give attention to applications for membership in these clubs as they are received."

These various clubs will have the benefit of expert direction, and the aim is to bring about a revolution in the methods of the great agricultural State of North Carolina.

One of our young friends asked a girl if she would be content to live with him in a cottage. "Oh, well, I could do it," she replied, "but I prefer for you to live in it by yourself till you can build us a comfortable house."

CURRENT COMMENT.

The question of placing this country in a condition of reasonable preparedness to resist aggression ought not to be made a party issue, nor does the President propose so to treat it, for he has already called into consultation as to the ways and means of carrying out an adequate plan for strengthening the army and navy Republican as well as Democratic leaders in Congress; and in his recent New York address he expressly declared that the subject was one of too vital importance to all the people to be considered from the narrow standpoint of partisan politics. It was in this view of the matter that we were disposed to abstain from harsh criticism of Mr. Kitchin's announced opposition to any increase in the national armaments ashore and afloat, content to give him credit for honesty of conviction and commendable independence in maintaining it, and to combat the soundness of his views rather than impute to him hostility to the Adminstration and a fractious spirit. It seems now that he is not satisfied to discuss the matter with those holding opposite opinions on that plane. He would arrogate to himself a higher standard of representative conduct than is observed by his colleagues in Congress. He admits that his immediate constituents are not in accord with the position he takes, thereby forfeiting the right to claim that his attitude is a representative one. He says that his district has been flooded with documents setting forth the defenselessness of the nation and the urgent necessity for supplying its lack of soldiers, guns, ships and defensive fortifications, and he absurdly protests that such a propaganda is invasive of his sphere of influence. Worst of all, he predicts that the President's programme will receive the sanction of decisive majorities in both branches of Congress, but declares that such action will not voice the honest sentiment or deliberate judgment of those concurring in it, but that a preponderant element of the majority so voting is composed of Senators and Representatives who agree with him, but are mere puppets in the hands of President Wilson and will bow to his dictation despite the promptings of their reason and consciences. Nothing more is needed to make plain the true inwardness of Mr. Kitchin's tangential departure from the lines marked out by prudence and patriotism.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look Young! Nobody Can Tell if You Use Grandmother's Simple Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

After using it a few times you can tell the difference, and after a little while it will be so pretty and long that you can fix it up any way you want to.

COAST GUARD CUTTER ORDERED TO THIS PORT

Seminole Will Return to Wilmington Latter Part of Month.

Vessel Has Been Stationed at San Juan, Porto Rico, since Her Departure Last Summer—To Patrol the Coast.

The coast guard cutter Seminole, which for the past three months has been stationed at San Juan, Porto Rico, where she has been on patrol duty, is expected to return to Wilmington the latter part of the mouth, Col. Walker Taylor, collector of customs, yesterday receivd a letter from the Treasury Department stating that the Seminole had been ordered direct from San Juan to Wilmington and that she possibly would arrive here the latter part of November.

The announcement that the Seminole is to return to her post at Wilmington will come as welcome news to local marine men, as well as to other shippers along the coast of the two Carolinas. For several years she has been stationed here and has guarded the coast of North Carolina and a part of the South Carolina coast. Her value as an aid to shipping is inestimable. It was with regret that the shipping public learned about the middle of August that the cutter had been ordered to Porto Rican waters and the matter of asking that another cutter be sent to replace her during the temporary absence was discussed. However, since the Seminole left there has been no other vessel stationed here and the cutters at Norfolk and Charleston have been doing patrol duty in the Seminole's territory.

While the coast guard service is under the supervision of the Treasury Department, the vessels may also be used to perform military duty. On August 17 the Seminole was ordered to Porto Rican waters to replace the gunboat Paducah, which had been ordered to Haiti to do patrol duty in connection with the effort of the United States to quell the uprising which had recently broken out among the natives on the island. The cutter sailed August 19, going direct to San Juan from Wilmington. Since that time the revolution in Haiti has been gotten under control and it is assumed that the gunboat Paducah will return to Porto Rico to take up her previous duties.

Nothing other than the announcement that the Seminole had been ordered to return to Wilmington was contained in the letter from the Treasury Department to Colonel Taylor.

It was announced from the Treasury Department several weeks ago that the Seminole would be sent to Savannah early this month after being relieved at San Juan by the coast guard cutter Itaska, but circumstances probably have arisen which have made a change of plans necessary.

WRESTLING BOUT TONIGHT

Hanson Ready for Big Middleweight, "Yankee" Rogers.

Fritz Hanson, the local favorite mat artist, is ready for the big bout tonight with "Yankee" Rogers, the middleweight from Fall River, Mass. Rogers is not making any big blow of what he has done. He says he is not a champion, but "some wrestler." All the local fans know that Hanson is "some wrestler" also so they are naturally anticipating "some wrestling match" tonight when these two men meet in Woolvin Hall.

It will be remembered that experience in the past has shown that a number of good wrestlers came along without much fast advance press dope about their work. Their ability to wrestle was enough, without any "advance stuff. E. J. Warren Was Suing Waccamaw Lumber Co., for $25,000 for Injuries Received Last Spring.

After having put on all their testimony and while witnesses for the defendant were being examined in Federal Court yesterday afternoon in the suit brought by E. J. Warren against the Waccamaw Lumber Company, of Bolton, in which he was seeking to recover $25,000 for alleged damages for the loss of both legs by being run over by an engine in the spring of 1914, attorneys for the plaintiff took a voluntary non-suit. It was stated later that a new suit would likely be brought against the defendant.

Warren is now living in Wilmington and is known to many people here, having secured a little wagon which is drawn by dogs, in which he rides about the city. He was employed by the Waccamaw Lumber Company at the time he was injured. He was walking down the railroad tracks, according to the evidence, and was run over by an engine owned by the Waccamaw company. The defendant alleged that Warren was given repeated warnings to get off the track but failed to do so.

The plaintiff was represented by Thos. W. Davis, Esq., of Wilmington, and Jackson Greer and Donald McRackan, Esqs., of Whiteville. Robert Ruark, Esq., of this city, appeared for the defendant.

After having been out since Wednesday, the jury in the case of the Salvage Corporation, of Norfolk, Va., against R. B. Cromartie, of Bladen county, reported at 3:30 o'clock that they had been unable to reach an agreement and Judge Connor ordered a mistrial in the case.

There being no other cases to be tried at this term of court, Judge Connor returned last night to his home at Wilson. Court had been in session for ten days and a large number of criminal, civil, equity and admiralty cases were disposed of.

Fortunately the collision damaged the cars but slightly although the experience was such as to be rather exciting.

Mr. White was in his car alone and Sheriff Robinson was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Mr. S. O. Hewett and Miss Minnie Hewett, all of Shallotte. Sheriff Robinson was able to proceed on his journey without delay and Mr. White also was able to start his machine after some repairs.

JURY STILL UNDECIDED AS TO MERRICK'S FATE

No Verdict Reached Before Retiring Last Night.

Deliberated All Afternoon as to Fate of Negro Youth—Trial of Burglary Case at Next Term. Docket Completed.

After having been out since yesterday at noon when they were given the case of Tom Merrick, an 18-year-old colored boy, charged with the murder of Mr. L. B. Hudson, the jury had been unable to agree as to a verdict at 10 o'clock last night and retired for the night. The trial of James Davis, another colored youth, charged with burglary in the first degree, was continued by Judge Daniels yesterday afternoon until the next term of Superior Court, which will convene on January 16th, on account of the inability of the attorneys for the negro to secure a material witness. He is represented by Cyrus D. Hogue and Kenneth Burgwin, Esqs.

As soon as the case of the Merrick boy is disposed of, court will adjourn for the term, all the cases on the docket having been disposed of. Judge Daniels kept court in session until about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon and heard a number of motions in civil cases. He left word with Maj. W. N. Harriss, clerk of Superior Court, that if the jury in the Merrick case reached a verdict by 10 o'clock to call him. The jury after getting supper returned to the Court House and deliberated until 10 o'clock and then went to the hotel for the night.

The entire morning yesterday was taken up with the addresses to the jury by Rodolph Duffy, Esq., of Catherine Lake, for the State, and William J. Bellamy, Esq., for the defense and the charge of Judge Daniels. The defense on Wednesday afternoon submitted a verdict of second degree murder which the State refused to accept.

George Galloway, colored, who is now serving a term on the roads given him by the Recorder, had an additional year added to his sentence yesterday afternoon by Judge Daniels. He was charged with holding up Eddie Williams, a colored boy, and robbing him of $1.

Alex. Angelus, a Greek merchant, through his attorney, J. C. King, Esq., entered a plea of guilty of doing business without a license and judgment was suspended upon payment of costs, it appearing that the license has now been paid.

Judge Daniels yesterday afternoon issued an order allowing Ned Elvington, colored, who is wanted in Onslow county, to remain in the New Hanover jail on account of an injured hand. Sheriff Henderson, of Jacksonville, came over yesterday to get his prisoner.

Judge Daniels yesterday afternoon issued an order dissolving the temporary injunction and receivership proceedings which was started some time ago by Mr. S. D. Garwood against Mr. H. A. Rau. The proceedings involve the carrying out of a contract between the two men. Mr. Rau was required to give a satisfactory bond in the matter until it is finally disposed of.

TRIED SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

The Recorder Had Several Interesting Cases Yesterday.

There was an interesting case in the Recorder's court yesterday when James Jones, alias, was tried for an attempt at house breaking. He is in jail in default of $100 bond. Plainclothesman Frank George alleged that this is the negro he saw trying to break into a house on Princess street between Sixth and Seventh. Jones will have another hearing today.

Ben Williams, colored, was tried on a charge of highway robbery, but was discharged because the court failed to find probable cause.

George Pigford, colored, was found guilty of selling logs he found in the river, without advertising, and was given 30 days on the county roads. The first warrant was taken for Pigford charging him with larceny, but he claimed that he found the logs in the river and didn't know to whom they belonged, so he sold them. Fortunately for those engaged in the logging business, there is a law in North Carolina making it a crime for a man to dispose of logs found drifting, unless he first gives 15 days' public notice. Pigford was found not guilty of larceny, but guilty of disposing of the logs without due notice.

James Jones, charged with stealing garden hose nozzles, was given a nol pros, with leave, while James Jackson, charged with a similar crime, will get another hearing today.

Simon Dee, colored, confessed to stealing garden hose nozzles and on account of his age, was paroled to an aunt, under the supervision of C. C. Bellamy, Esq., who will make occasional reports to the court regarding his conduct.

DAIRY SPECIALIST LECTURES

Mr. L. B. Cook, Department of Agriculture, Gives Stereopticon Lecture on Dairy Sanitation.

Mr. L. B. Cook, of Washington, D. C. milk specialist from the United States Department of Agriculture, delivered a comprehensive and illuminating lecture last night upon the subject of milk, and the discussion was heard with great interest by most of the 25 dairymen supplying the city of Wilmington. He spoke at the Victoria Theatre and, despite the rain and wind which made it exceedingly disagreeable to be out, some others besides the representatives of the commercial dairies attended and heard the government specialist.

Mr. Cook opened his address by emphasizing the universal importance and usefulness of milk, and discussed the question along lines appealing to both the dairyman and the consumer. He laid particular emphasis upon the necessity of having in view the vital matter of complete sanitation the chief objection of dairymen, in handling and householders in caring for and saving milk. He urged first, clean and sanitary dairying, and explained the purposes of professional dairy inspection. Inspection, he explained, was not for the purpose of making trouble for the dairyman, and while it was for the general benefit of the community, it means to be helpful to the dairymen, whose business can alone be built up by reputation for sanitation and approved methods at his dairy. He made it plain that inspection was necessary for both the industry and the public, leaving no doubt amoug his hearers upon that important question.

Important among the things discussed was the source of supply—the cow—and it was urged that only the best results could be obtained from healthy, clean and carefully attended cattle, careful marketing and sanitary handling of milk for city use. That must be rigidly looked after by the dairyman, yet after the milk passes from their hands it is up to the consumers to keep it from contamination at their homes. Frequently, he declared, the abominable neglect in the household, endangers the health of infants and grown people as well, and adds to the difficulties of the dairyman assuring and maintaining the sanitation of their establishments. He warned against leaving milk bottles exposed to the filth and dirt and foul air, or placing them in filthy refrigerators, or leaving them on uncleaned tables.

The expert explained the bacterial infection of milk and not only talked upon that feature, but illustrated that subject as well as the dairy industry, by lantern slides. The bacteria colonies were magnified and one was brought face to face with comparative illustrations of clean, healthy cows, and dirty and unhealthy animals, sanitary and unsanitary dairies, proper and improper milking, cleanly and uncleanly handling and washing cans and bottles, sanitary delivery and unsanitary delivery, proper and improper care of milk containers in the home.

Among the milch cows illustrated were diseased and tubercular animals, and the lecturer emphasized the fact that it was not alone necessary to have rigid dairy laws and regulations, and have them enforced, but it was the duty of dairymen and to their own interest to aid in carrying out the laws and in every way to promote inspection of their herd and dairy products. He spoke particularly about the tubercular cows, but remarked that tuberculosis among dairy cattle was not as prevalent in the South as in the North.

Mr. Cook spoke upon a subject of deep concern to people generally and it is to be regretted that, owing to the inclemency of the weather, he was not able to talk to an overflowing house.

COLORED BAPTISTS TO DURHAM

Church in North Carolina May Consolidate Next January.

The question of Baptist unity in the State of North Carolina came up in the colored Baptists State Convention yesterday at Shiloh Baptist church, this city, and arrangements were made for a joint meeting of representatives of the two existing bodies in the State in Durham, January 12, 1916, for the purpose of perfecting terms of agreement and consolidation.

The invitation of the Wilmington City Council was accepted and a delegation of nine delegates to the Convention made an official visit yesterday morning to the Corn Show at the hour appointed for colored visitors. Other things of interest yesterday morning was the collection of $82.45 for the benefit of Shaw University, in Raleigh, and $21 for their orphan asylum. A distinguished educator was present in the afternoon, and told of attending the funeral of Booker T. Washington, which he said was the most imposing spectacle he had ever seen.

Much routine work of the convention was attended to yesterday. The Baptist church is doing a great work for the colored race of North Carolina.

WIGGINS-LODER WEDDING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Bessie D. Loder and Mr. Octave A. Wiggins were married last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James C. Loder, No. 216 Chestnut street. Rev. Dr. William H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. On account of the recent death of the bride's father, the wedding was very quiet, only the members of the family being present.

While the vows were being said, the bride and groom stood under a bell which was used many years ago at the golden wedding of the grandparents of the groom and which has been used at the weddings of the grandchildren since that time. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. James C. Loder, of Chattanooga. The only attendant was the groom's best man, Mr. Charles F. Green.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins left on the 6:45 train for their honeymoon which will be spent in Northern cities. After December 1 they will be at home at No. 215 Ann street.

The bride is a young woman of charming personality and has a host of friends here and elsewhere. The groom holds a position with the Hilton Lumber Company and has a wide circle of friends.

DR. J. McNEILL SMITH WEDS MISS ROBERTA OLYVIA ANDREW

Harman, Md., Nov. 18.—On Wednesday, November 17, at Friendship Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at half after six o'clock, Miss Roberta Olyvia Andrew, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert Andrew, became the wife of Dr. J. McNeill Smith, of Rowland, N. C. The father of the bride, the Rev. J. Robert Andrew, performed the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated in white chrysanthemums and palms. The altar was banked with Southern smilax interspersed with altar candles. Mrs. Jenny Lind Green, organist, assisted by Mr. Leo Elser, violinist, rendered an elaborate programme.

The bride was attired in duchess satin embroidered in seed pearls draped with tulle, and wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and orchids.

The matrons of honor were Mrs. Irving D. Chaney, of Mt. Airy, Md., and Mrs. Alfred S. Brower, of Raleigh, N. C., who wore gowns of white satin trimmed in duchess point lace and carried American beauty roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Esther Crawford, McKeesport, Pa.; Miss Uva Matthews, Clifton Forge, Va., and Misses Elsie Denit and Gretchen Kime, of Salem, Va. They wore pearl pink satin, draped with tulle, and carried small gold baskets of Radiance roses.

MISS KATHERINE SUTHERLAND BRIDE OF MR. WM. J. McKAY.

Maxton, N. C., Nov. 18.—At the stroke of 6, in the Presbyterian church here last evening, were united in marriage by Dr. H. G. Hill, Miss Katherine Neill Sutherland and Mr. William June McKay. In a church beautifully decorated with ferns banked in the pulpit and around the foot of it, with masses of yellow chrysanthemums, with vines trailing over columns and lattices and arches, in the soft glow of hundreds of lighted candles, the vows were spoken uniting these two young people for life's journey.

The bride is the eldest daughter of the late John Sutherland, of Scotland county, but for the past several years has made her home in Maxton. The groom is a successful druggist, who came to Maxton from Rockingham in 1908.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left over the Atlantic Coast Line for New York and other Northern points for their honeymoon. On their return to Maxton they will live with Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Kirkpatrick, corner of Elm and Saunders streets.

The following composed the bridal party: E. T. Carrowan, W. Lacy Williams, L. R. Kirkpatrick and D. M. Clarkson, ushers; Hugh Barnes, Henry Carter, Henry McKinnon, of Maxton; Floyd Souders, of Fayetteville; Kirk Gibson, of McColl, S. C., and Ralph Henderson, of Red Springs, groomsmen; Master Robert Croom, Jr., and Master James Hawley McKinnon, keepers of the gates; Master Linwood Currie with Miss Mary McNair Patterson and Master Randolph Kirkpatrick with Miss Elizabeth McKinnon, attendants; Miss Jessie Burns, Miss Sadie McKinnon, Miss Leila Barnes, of Maxton, and Miss Julia Tatum, of McColl, S. C., bridesmaids; Miss Eliza McQueen and Miss Emma Belle McRae, bridesmaids extraordinary, all dressed in white and carrying yellow chrysanthemums; Mrs. E. T. Carrowan and Mrs. Lacy Williams, wearing their wedding gowns and carrying yellow chrysanthemums, dames of honor.

The maid of honor, Miss Katie McQueen, in a beautiful dress of yellow taffeta and carrying an armful of white chrysanthemums, came down the aisle with the bride, who wore a handsome gown of white satin and real lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley and at her throat wore a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. R. M. Williams, pianist, played Nevin's "Love Song"; Woodberry Lennon, of Lumberton, as violinist, "Barcarolle", from Tales of Hoffman, and "Traumerel"; Miss Minnie Lou McRae as soloist, "Until", and "At Dawning."

One of the most attractive entertainments of the season was that given by Miss Emma Belle McRae, in the form of a miscellaneous shower, in honor of the bride.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Phillips, at their beautiful home on Main street, gave a reception to the bridal party and intimate friends. Later in the evening the Quhele Club gave a stag shower and toasting and roasting to the groom.

Removing the Cause of Much Sickness

The advantage in taking Foley Cathartic Tablets is that in addition to carrying off the entire congested mass without griping or nausea, they thoroughly cleanse the walls of the intestines and keep them free of all clogging matter.

It is this caking on the walls of the intestines that prevents their natural action and function, and is the direct cause of so much of the sickness and misery that makes constipation the curse of our present day. For it is constipation that is responsible for a large share of headaches, depressed feelings, and many other serious bodily ills

W. A. McRae, an elderly gentleman living at Raleigh, Ga., writes: "Foley Cathartic Tablets are the only ones I have ever taken that cleanse my system thoroughly and do not gripe or hurt me at all. They are entirely satisfactory and wonderfully different and more pleasant than anything I have ever used."

KITCHIN DECLARES HE "KNOWS" HE IS RIGHT

Don't Care if Everybody Else in District is Wrong.

Denies That He Ever Asserted, in Opposing Wilson's Plan, That He Was Following Sentiment of Folks Back Home.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Nov. 18.—"I know I am right and I don't care if everybody else in my district is wrong" are the words of Representative Claude Kitchin, in an interview with Don Martin, of the New York Herald, Wednesday night, telegraphed by Mr. Martin to the New York paper. Wednesday was the last day of the work of The Herald representative in this section and he left Wilson last night for Farmville and then to Norfolk.

In his interview with Mr. Martin, Congressman Kitchin said:

"I want to deny that I ever asserted that in opposing the President I was acting according to the sentiment of the folks back home. I never referred to the folks back home at all. I said, in fact, that I thought the sentiment of my district was overwhelming for national preparedness. I want to say also that I didn't hurry right home to find out the sentiment when I read in The Herald what the people of the district thought, as shown in the telegrams to The Herald. I have never discussed the preparedness issue in my district. I have been and am content to wait until I get on th floor of the House. Then I will state my position and give my reasons there for.

"I did say, after I left the White House some days ago, that I had a pleasant interview with the President and was sorry that I could not report his naval programme. That position of mine was understood. I don't object to The Herald coming down to my district to get all the sentiment it wants and find out what the sentiment here is. That is the right of any newspaper. I do object, however, to being ridiculed and I object seriously to the faking of statements and the attributing to me of sentiments I have not expressed.

"Since I came back to Scotland Neck I have not written to a man in my district. I haven't talked to anyone outside of my home town. I know I am right and I don't care if everybody else in my district is wrong. I will give my reasons for my position on the floor of the House. That is the place to give them and the people of my district and everywhere else, if they care to read them, will know precisely where I stand and why. I shall give out a statement in a few days for the perusal of the people of my own district. This is about all I have to say."

SMALL FOR PREPAREDNESS

First District Congressman Stands With the President.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 18.—Congressman John H. Small, of the First district, is solidly behind the President and his plan for national defense, according to a statement given a newspaper man today. In commenting generally on the project, the congressman declares that he doesn't see but one possible hitch and that is where the money for the project is to come from, and he believes a solution of this is not out of the question.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat, Which Forms Uric Acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life-saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

THEATRICAL

With George Nash in the title role, the World Film Corporation presents at the Royal today an elaborate five-act adaptation from Sutton Vane's sensational stage success, "The Cotton King," in which action and atmosphere, business and romance, Wall Street and the cotton fields are mingled into one of the most pleasing and interesting five-act features of the year.

Seen in the cast with Mr. Nash are Julia Hay, Eric Mayne and Julia Stuart in prominent roles. The story tells of how John Osborne comes to be called "The Cotton King", how he acquires the Ashton cotton mills and later is almost ruined by another man. Then there is a great emotional side to the story, which follows the development of Osborne's love affair and reveals the heartless behavior of Stockley who betrays a pretty little mill girl and tries to shoulder the blame on his enemy.

There is excitement and action galore in scenes such as those showing a mob on the verge of lynching Osborne. Right at the opening we have some spectacular scenes of a panic on the cotton exchange, staged with the utmost care. There is great care in handling the Southern mill scenes, and everyone will find in it a true-to-life portrayal and one of the most interesting film dramas of the week.

Great Feature at Grand.

The Moving Picture News critic says of "Nan o' the Backwoods," a three-reel Lubin feature heading today's big bill at the Grand: "It is elemental, well within the compass of human experience, and will prove highly entertaining to any audience."

"Nan o' the Backwoods" is one of Lubin's greatest three-reel features, and stars Valentine Grant in the leading role, with Walter Chapen, James Vincent and Roy Sheldon. The heroine of the story is a product ofthe backwoods, beautiful but lowly born. She is loved by a young physician, who attempts to improve her deficient education, but a wealthy idler from the city appears on the scene with his auto, and the girl is immediately taken for a ride. The trip is repeated several times without harm to Nan, but her brother, suspecting the worst, forces the owner of the auto to marry his sister. There's a great accumulation of interesting events, finally leading to a happy ending for the young physician, who has remained faithful to his romance through it all. It's a picture that everyone will enjoy.

"The Dawn of Courage," is a great single reel Biograph drama, in which novelty of situation and an impressive story make a delightful fifteen minute picture. Then there's a great Edison cartoon comedy, "Cartoons on the Beach," full of fun throughout. It's another great bill today. We know everyone will like that three-reel Lubin.

Tomorrow—Charlie Chaplin in a great one-reel comedy—"The Masqueraders." Don't miss him!

Nat Goodwin at Bijou.

Nat C. Goodwin, veteran of the speaking stage, and America's foremost character actor, of whom it has been said that he "has done more good, spread more of the gospel of cheerful genius through mournful humanity, and has graced the stage to which we all owe a dazzling debt of gratitude, serene pleasure to a greater extent than any living man," is featured at the Bijou today in "Business is Business," a gorgeous filmization of the famous French play by Octava Mirabeau.

"Business is Business" is a multiple feature de luxe. With Mr. Goodwin playing the leading role, an all-star supporting cast with Maude George, Gretchen Lederer, Wellington Playter, and others, staging of a superlative order, it will stand for all time as a film classic.

Where many pictures depend for their greatness upon a star's reputation, or upon a well known Broadway play, the Broadway Universal Features do not depend for their effects upon their distortion of the English language. Dialecticians invariably fall on the screen. Nat Goodwin, however, is an actor. Like Sarah Bernhardt, in his art, he is above the barrier of language or the absence of "lines to get it over."

"Business is Business" is a great feature. Nat Goodwin himself says: "I am willing to let posterity judge of my place on the American stage by 'Business is Business.' It is the best thing I have ever done. I put my heart and soul and the training of a lifetime into it. If it fails, then I am a failure as an actor."

Queen or Dairy Maid Ambition the Same

In the expectant mother's mind there is no limit to what the future has in store, and yet during the period of expectancy, much depends upon the physical comfort of the mother. One of the best aids is a remedy known as "Mother's Friend." Applied over the muscles, it penetrates to the net work of nerves, relieves the pains incident to stretching of cords and ligaments, makes them pliant, induces daily comfort, restful nights, a calm mind and pleasant anticipation. You use it with your own hand, apply it as needed, and at once feel a sense of relief.

Mothers who have learned all this from experience tell of the blessed relief from morning sickness, the absence of strain and the undoubted healthful influence imparted to the coming baby.

One very important thing to remember about "Mother's Friend," it can not exercise any other influence than to simply lubricate the parts, make them more firm to naturally withstand the constantly increasing pressure. And as the muscles continue to expand, the nerves become accustomed to this new condition and adjust themselves without undue pain. "Mother's Friend" is entirely free of any drug influence whatsoever and may be used freely at all times.

Get a bottle of this splendid help today. Phone your nearest druggist or send for it. Then write Bradfield Regulator Co., 704 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a valuable book of instruction for expectant mothers.

"Mother's Friend" is recommended everywhere by women who have used it. And you can read some very interesting letters if you write for this book.

WINTER WEAR for LITTLE MAIDS

Youthful Topcoats Broad As They Are Long - Small Girls Wear Long Gloves With Fluffy Party Frocks - Plaid Silk Models for Afternoons - Blue Serge Dresses for School and Play.

THE "flapper" receives her due share of attention these busy shopping days for late autumn and winter. No less important than the provision of an adequate grown-up wardrobe for her mamma, is the business of supplying her youthful needs in the way of school, play and party frocks, topcoats for everyday and for "dress-up" occasions, hats galore and the long list of small belongings—boots, dancing slippers, silk hose, gloves and underwear that even the youngest member of the younger set requires to play her part in the social scheme of things.

The little girl's winter wardrobe does not cost as much as that of her grown-up debutante sister; but it approximates a tidy sum, none the less, if all its items comply with the requirements of good form and good taste. The day of big sister's clothes made over for small sister has passed. Half-worn garments are not made over and let down as they used to be but are given away to charity and the modern little girl has her own fresh, attractive winter outfit.

Considerably under twenty dollars was the box pleated topcoat pictured on a slender maid of about twelve years. The belt in two sections and the well-placed buttons of the coat's material give this garment its special style and snap; the collar and cuffs of inexpensive fur add to this snappy smartness. This good-looking topcoat is made of light tan broadcloth with belt and turned back cuffs of black velvet. The tan cloth buttons have rims of black velvet. The coat has a deep yoke, below which are set the broad box pleats which give flare at the foot of the garment. The velvet belt passes under the box pleats at front and back, holding the coat in against the figure at a low waistline, and the belt has tabbed ends which button to the coat under the arms. The fur collar and trimming on the velvet cuffs are of imitation skunk. In conservative good taste are the cloth topped boots worn with black stockings and the little maid wears a particularly stunning hat—evidently a "Sunday best" chapeau!—with black velvet crown, brim of gold lace and a pink rose for trimming.

Very Little Girls Have Very Full Coats.

For school and everyday wear the young girl will have a less dressy coat of darker hue but its style and cut will be none the less perfect. New coats for tiny girls are almost ludicrously full. They flare over short little petticoats until their small wearers look almost as broad as they are long. But the silhouette is smart and captivating all the same, and these flaring little coats have much chic. A cunning model is of green broadcloth with the flare portion attached to a sloping yoke which supports loose, wide-cuffed sleeves. A roll collar extends to the bottom of the yoke and the coat buttons on the chest with two bright silver buttons. The widely rippling edge of the coat escapes the knees by several inches and so does the excessively full white frock beneath. Long stockings and cloth-topped boots will show below the coat in the street; but many little girls are kept in short socks and strap slippers all winter—in the house; leggings being donned for out-of-doors.

A very good looking coat for an older girl of ten or eleven years is of dark green zibeline with a shallow yoke and flaring lower portion, the flare held in at the waistline by two rather narrow belts of the material set about an inch apart.

At the sides, below the belt arrangement, are very large pockets with envelope flaps, and below the pockets three huge buttons, matching the buttons on coat-front and belts, run down the side seams to the edge of the coat. A band of beaver fur forms the close collar and narrow strips of beaver edge the turned back cuffs.

Corduroy Unexcelled For Youthful Tailleurs.

There is nothing better—and nothing smarter this year—than tried and true, sturdy corduroy, for the young girl's tailored coat and skirt suit. This costume is always a rather difficult proposition. If the least bit too grown-up and sophisticated in style, it will spoil the childish charm of its little wearer, no matter how she, herself, adores it. A good model in blue corduroy is pictured. The suit shown here is eminently youthful and simple in style, yet it has plenty of chic and distinction. Here again, well placed buttons play an important role. The collar of black velvet touches the blue suit with knowing contrast; the white washable chamois gloves give another important style touch. This little tailleur in either blue, brown or green corduroy should please the little maid and her fastidious mother mightily.

Velvet, too, has its place in childish wardrobes. Some very stunning coats are of velvet—black, navy blue and a new catawba shade which is most becoming to blonde little girls. These velvet coats are usually trimmed with fur and are lined most daintily with pastel tinted satin or flowered silk. Velvet in combination with striped taffeta achieves a smart little afternoon frock for ten-years-old; as shown in an accompanying picture. The skirt is golden brown velvet—or to be exact, velveteen—and buttons up over the simple silk blouse in the fashion of little boys' Dickens suits. The blouse is of blue taffeta striped with tan in a soft blending of color.

Little silk dresses for Sunday and afternoon wear are charmingly bright and soft in color. One model of plaid taffeta in blue, green, black and a thread of yellow, has a kilted skirt and waist laid in broad box pleats at front and back. On these box pleats are groups of green velvet buttons and loops, and the frock has a green satin tie knotted below a broad turnover collar of hemstitched batiste.

School Dresses in Middy Style.

Blue serge sailor frocks are the reliance of mothers for school and play hours. Such a frock wears amazingly well and is easy to keep clean for the serge may be sponged off with soap and water occasionally. Typical of best style requirements is the blue serge middy frock pictured. The broad, low belt controls the flare of the skirt, and the box pleats, set below an irregular yoke give special smartness.

Concerning Party Togs.

Dancing school and the coming festivities of holiday week must be provided for in a number of gala frocks—party frocks, most dear to the heart of their youthful wearer. For what small maid does not revel in being dressed up and curled up to look her feminine best? Very fluffy affairs indeed are party frocks for little girls these days; creations of shadow lace or frilled net over softly plaited chiffon. Sometimes a little slip of satin or crepe de chine is donned underneath so that the faint gleam of color may show through—not much color, for French taste insists upon the most delicate tints in such frocks; and the loveliest models come from Paris. For a very little girl Lanvin has designed a party dress of embroidered muslin, cream in tone and extraordinarily sheer. This is mounted over flesh pink satin and a flat band and bow of the satin are tied around a high waistline. Long gloves of pale pink kid accompany this Parisian party frock—gloves that will cover dimpled arms all the way up to a tiny puffed sleeve. Just when grown-up women are reveling in freedom from the restriction of long gloves, they become the particular fad at formal youthful affairs, and have accompanied several dainty dresses at exclusive dancing schools.

The becoming velvet and fur bonnet pictured, accompanies a velvet coat in navy blue shade, with collar and cuffs of peach pink velvet, edged with otter. The bonnet is of navy blue velvet, with a band of otter and peach pink velvet rosettes.

HANDKERCHIEFS HAVE NARROW, TINTED BORDERS.

THE smartest kerchiefs for thrusting into the breast pockets of tailored coats, are of sheer, fine linen with very narrow, hemstitched hems in color. The one-color woman will have a dozen of these dainty kerchiefs, bordered with her favorite shade; but most women prefer a variety of shades, so delicate and desirable are the colors. One may purchase a box of these handkerchiefs with hems in flesh pink, pastel blue, buff, spring green and lilac; the half dozen costing about $1.50.

WAR BRACELETS THE PARIS FAD.

FRENCH women prize highly, these days, heavy bracelets made from the rings of shells fired by the big French "75." Mlle. Sorel, a favorite of the Paris stage, wears constantly one of these bracelets which is large enough to slip up the arm, above the elbow. Rings, made of the metal which once formed part of menacing shells, are also in favor and are worn outside of the glove. Copper and aluminum jewelry is fancied more than ornaments of gold and precious stones just now, for all Paris is going in for economy and economical effects and any ostentatious display is discountenanced. But the war jewelry—the massive bracelets and the ungainly rings are regarded as treasures indeed for they may not be bought but come as gifts from the very trenches themselves, where the soldiers occupy their leisure hours in fashioning these rude but valued gifts for sweethearts at home.

Teaching the Baby Good-Grooming

THE importance of dainty, fastidious care of the person cannot be inculcated too early in the youthful mind. Cleanliness—and more than mere cleanliness, exquisite self-grooming—should become such a habit in youth that the necessity for it will be one of the first requirements through life. Neither poverty, hardship, sorrow or worry will accomplish a lapse into slovenliness in the individual with whom neatness is inherent, an instinct and a habit. This habit of cleanliness should be taught before habits of carelessness have had time to assert themselves; particularly in boys. There is an inborn daintiness about little girls that makes them take to good grooming naturally. Women love to fuss over themselves and the characteristics begin to show in very tender years. Observe wee Gwendolyn powdering her bit of a nose with the maternal puff or trying to pin up her curls in an imitation of mamma's coiffure.

The small boy, on the other hand, avoids good grooming as the plague. Water—except for drinking and swimming purposes is the bane of his life. A wash cloth he abhors. Soap is an unholy nuisance. A toothbrush is an instrument devised for the unnecessary waste of time.

There is no use trying to teach the little boy to be fastidious about his person—if he is, before the age of interest in girls, he will not be a real boy, the sort his father wants to have—but every boy may be taught the importance of cleanliness; of fresh, clear skin, well brushed hair and teeth and a critical sense of what constitutes a clean collar. These habits, established in childhood, are even more important for the boy than the girl, whose natural instincts will probably teach her sooner or later to make herself as dainty as possible.

The child who is to be taught careful self-grooming must be provided with the wherewithal for the same. It should have its own toilet belongings, personal towels, soap and washcloth as well as its own toothbrush. The pride which delights in nice things of one's own will be a big step toward the intention to use those things. The intention will probably have to be fostered, and prodded, occasionally by maternal reminders but by and by good habits will be formed.

Do not expect a child of three years old to use an ordinary washstand designed for adults. How would you, for instance, enjoy your morning ablutions, were the wash-basin on a level with your chin, so that you had to reach your arm upward and down into unseen depths in order to wet the washcloth? If it is impossible to give the child a special, low washstand, have a small white stool in front of the ordinary wash-stand. Any little three-legged stool, white-enameled, will answer, and it may be kept under the wash-stand when not in use. By means of this stool the child can lean over the basin of water and bathe face and hands, or brush the teeth with ease.

On the washstand may be a special soap-dish with the child's own particular soap. A blue china soap-dish, different from the article used by the grown-up people is recommended.

Where there are two or more children the small toothbrushes should be distinctly different in shape of handle in order that no mistakes may be made. A mere baby should be trained to a finicky fastidiousness about the personal toothbrush.

Children should have their personal towels also—a bit different in pattern and style from the grown-up's towels, so that they may take a special pride in their own belongings. In one family the children's towels are of white damask, in ordinary guest towel size, and are embroidered with tiny Nursery Rhyme figures above the hem—the little boy's towels in pink, his sister's in blue. There are wash-cloths, also, initialed in pink and in blue, and each child has a separate nickel towel rack in the bathroom. Woe be to the careless youngster in that family, who uses somebody else's towel!

Tooth-brushing may be made a pride and joy—not a bothersome duty.

Manicuring is an art that children are very seldom taught early enough. The future beauty of the nails and fingertips depends on their treatment in early youth. Many a stubby, spoiled hand might have been beautiful if the nails had not been bitten in childhood, or if the cuticle had not been allowed to grow up around the base. The child should be taught to push back the cuticle so that the little half-moon at the base of the nails will always show; to keep the ends of the nails immaculate with an orange stick, and by unremitting use of a nailbrush; and to pinch the fingertips occasionally so that they will taper. Cold cream, or better still old-fashioned mutton-tallow, must always be ready for little chapped hands, in cold weather; and a pair of mother's old gloves may be worn at night as a great privilege occasionally.

The sooner baby nails are trained aright, the more perfect will their shape be in womanhood.

COTTON PRICES GO UPWARD

January Contracts Closed at 11.71 and the General List at an Advance of 6 to 14 Points.

New York, Nov. 18.—While irregular, cotton today showed a steady undertone with January advancing 15 points and closing at 11.71. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 6 to 14 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points in response to relatively easy cables. There was some Liverpool selling but otherwise offerings seemed to be limited and the market soon steadied on covering, a renewal of demand from the brokers credited with buying for Russian account yesterday and local bull support.

Reports of unfavorable weather for saving cotton in the South and a further advance in sterling exchange, contributed to the rather more bullish average sentiment around the ring. Demand failed to broaden on the advance during the early afternoon, however, and the market later reacted several points from the best under realizing and a renewal of bear pressure. At time there was a fair volume of trading, but general commission house business was quiet, and may have been restricted somewhat by uncertainty as to the showing and effect of the census ginning figures on Monday. Private spot advices reported an improved spot demand in the South. Russian interests are estimated to have purchased contracts between 35,000 and 40,000 in the market here since yesterday morning.

Cotton futures closed steady:

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Opening Depression Later Turns and Prices Close at Net Gain.

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—After some depression around the opening today cotton made a small net advance, which was maintained throughout the day. The close was at a net gain of five to eight points.

Lower prices at the start was due to a poor Liverpool market. Buying was stimulated by the report that recent heavy buying in the American markets was for Russian interests. A report that German spinners were again buying and storing cotton in this country also increased sentiment in favor of the market.

Bullish traders claimed that there was a better feeling generally in the spot department but the export movement remained small, while the receipts were considered very light for this time of the year.

To some extent the market was helped by the weather over the cotton region and the storm warnings for the South Atlantic and eastern gulf states.

RAILROAD STOCKS STRONG

Were Almost Only Redeeming Feature of Irregular and Professional Market—Advance.

New York, Nov. 16.—Railway shares were almost the only redeeming feature of today's irregular and professional stock market, those issues displaying general strength and a broader inquiry. Erie was the most active and advanced 7-8 to 45 3-8, its highest price in almost a decade. Union Pacific rose almost 8 points to 141 1-2, the top quotation of the year.

There were sporadic gains in the war and semi-war descriptions as well as automobile and sugar stocks and United Fruit, but pressure upon these issues invariably was followed by reversals. Mercantile marine preferred reached three points to 67 3-4. Coppers failed to make appreciable progress, while United States Steel was the target of the short interest and Bethlehem Steel ranged between 450 and 474, closing at 485, a gain of 5 points. In general specialties of all kinds suggested an increasing lack of public interest. Trading was dull except in the first hour, with total sales of 786,000 shares.

Latest developments in the European situation contributed measurably toward the heavier tone of international issues in London. Virtual completion of the new British commercial credits had a favorable effect on sterling exchange which rose to its best rate of recent weeks.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a gold loss of about $9,000,000 with a reduction of liability reserves and a moderate decrease in total reserves. The Bank of France gained about $5,000,000 gold with a substantial increase of its note circulation.

Bonds were firm to strong, with a fair request for convertible issues. Total sales, par value, aggregated $5,420,000. United States registered 4s advanced 1-8 per cent on call.

only representations in the convict's behalf was a telegram from the Swedish minister requesting commutation of sentence, not by reason of any new thing in relation to the case but, as he expressed it 'for the sake of humanity and comity usually practiced between friendly nations.'

Respite Was Given.

"Because of the absence of any showing, the board terminated the respite and again denied the commutation. The convict thereupon was rested to be shot November 19. Forty-six days after the granting of the respite and at the eleventh hour, you, the President, without stating any reasons therefor, again wired, urging a thorough reconsideration of the case because of its importance and the justice and advisability of such a course.

"Your interference in the case may have elevated it to an undue importance and the receipt of thousands of threatening letters demanding the release of Hillstrom, regardless of his guilt or innocence may attach a peculiar importance to it, but the case is important in Utah only as establishing after a fair and impartial trial the guilt of one of the perpetrators of one of the most atrocious murders ever committed in this state. It is also important by reason of the fact that this case has had more careful and painstaking consideration at the hands of the proper officials of Utah than any other like case in the history of the state.

Prisoner Given Justice.

"As to your suggestion that justice requires further consideration of the case, I earnestly submit that the imputation contained, not only in your message to me, but also in your message to the president of the American Federation of Labor, that this convict has not had justice in the courts of this state is not justified. Three groups of attorneys have represented Hillstrom in the proceedings before the district court, the supereme court and the board of pardons.

"No fair-minded person acquainted with the record has any doubt of Hillstrom's guilt. The board of pardons has investigated every rumor, every suggestion and every clue that might tend to establish the innocence of this man and has most earnestly pleaded with hi mto shed any light on his movements and whereabouts on the night of the homicide. It is a significant fact that those only are appealed to who are either prejudiced in Hillstrom's favor or who demand his release regardless of his guilt.

Interference Unwarranted.

"I am fully convinced that your request must be based on a misconception of the facts or that there is some reason of an international nature that you have not disclosed. With a full knowledge of all the facts and circumstances submitted, I feel that a further postponement at this time would be an unwarranted interference with the course of justice. Mindful of the obligations of my oath of office to see that the laws are enforced, I cannot and will not lend myself or my office to such interference. Tangible facts must be presented before I will further interfere in this case."

Prisoner Not Surprised.

News of Governor Spry's action was conveyed to Hillstrom soon after the governor's message had been sent to the President. Hillstrom indicated by his manner that the news did not surprise.

"This is my busy day," he told reporters. "I am not afraid to die. I wanted a new trial to prove my innocence but I am not going down on my knees to beg for my life."

When the reporters urged him to tell something about his family he said: "I guess the family will be extinct tomorrow."

Hillstrom sent several farewell telegrams. One, addressed to W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, Chicago, read:

"It is a hundred miles from here to Wyoming. Could you arrange to have my body hauled to the state line to be buried. I don't want to be found dead in the state of Utah."

A message of Elizabeth Burley Flynn, New York, read:

"Composed new song last week with music dedicated to the Dove of Peace. It's coming. And now, goodbye, girlie, dear. I have lived like a rebel and I shall die like a rebel."

TELEGRAM MADE PUBLIC

Officials at the White House Declined to Make Comment.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Governor Spry's telegram was made public at the White House tonight without comment. Officials indicated that the President felt that he had exhausted his resources in behalf of Hillstrom, and that no further steps would be taken.

ALLIES' ATTITUDE TOWARDS GREECE IS TO BE DEFINED SOON

one of the most essential objects the Allies had in view in the Near East which already had become a new and very important theatre of war. This was not the time to talk peace. They had entered upon a great struggle and intended to carry it to a successful issue.

The situation in Greece, said Lord Lansdowne, "was extremely perplexing and he might all, disquieting." This was in reply to a request for information as to the progress of negotiations.

WAKE FOREST ENTERTAINED.

By Metropolitan Quartette, of Aikahest Lyceum Course.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 18.—The second number of the Aikahest Lyceum Lecture Course was given Wednesday night in the appearance of the Metropolitan Quartette. It is the first time that the quartette has ever appeared at Wake Forest, but they were greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience, and they were forced to respond to an encore for every number. Their quartette work was good, as well as the individual selections. Mr. Thos. Lane led the quartette in range of voice and power. The dramatic duet from the first act of "Faust" by Mr. Lane and Mr. Neth, was exceptionally well rendered.

FARMERS' UNION PROTESTS

NATIONAL DEFENSE POLICY.

al Annual Meeting in Session at Durham—Resolution.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 18.—The North Carolina Farmers' Union in annual session here today, passed a resolution protesting against the National defense programme as proposed by the administration. The resolution was passed in executive session.

COMPLETE INQUIRY LIKELY TO FOLLOW

ped may be taken as conclusive evidence. Whether warning was given still is an open question. Secretary Lansing considers that the evidence on its face is inconclusive It was pointed out today that because Mrs. Griel was the only native American survivor of the disaster much weight would be given to her statement. Secretary Lansing is of the opinion that the right of visit and search can be carried out by a submarine without actually placing sailors on the deck of an anticipated ship, and is a measure to prove the nationality of a vessel. Mrs. Griel's statement of the colors of the flag flown by the submarine was taken by officials of the State Department as being conclusive evidence that the submersible was flying the naval flag of Austria-Hungary.

The question of preparedness, coming up unexpectedly, was threshed out before the Federation today with the result that a resolution protesting against the introduction of military propaganda in the public schools was voted down.

The session was marked by several demonstrations, hisses coming from various parts of the hall when speakers on the platform were setting forth their views as to why the resolutions should not be passed. One of the demonstrations became so noticeable that Vice President James Duncan, who was presiding, warned the spectators that if proper order was not maintained, the galleries would be cleared.

President Samuel Gompers said that it had not been intended that the question of preparedness should come up at the time—that the plan had been to consider it more especially. "But now that we are on the subject," said he, "I wish to say that I would not have the military forces controlled by a select few. I want it in the hands of democracy—in the control of the great masses of the people of this country."

The president said he was opposed to militarism, but that he would like to see the farmer, worker and the people in general, thoroughly trained and organized and "that these people control the militia and the regular forces in the interest of peace, justice, democracy and humanity."

UNFORTUNATE SMALL TOWNS

Natural Means of Water Supply and Sewage Disposal Unhealthy.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—The "unfortunate small town" as explained by Dr. G. M. Cooper of the State Board of Health recently, is the town that depends on "natural means" for its water supply and sewage disposal. "Such towns have from several hundred to a few thousand population with none of the safeguards against disease and insanitary conditions that larger towns and cities have. For this reason, these same small towns are more unhealthy than even the country. They have a congestion of people with no protected water supply, no sewer system and practically no public health supervision. Private wells, open closets, and breeding places for flies—the three curses of public health—are everywhere, and town is so poor (mentally) that it cannot afford anything better.

"The general tendency of the unfortunate small towns in questions of health matters is to trust to luck, and the luck is often miserable. Typhoid fever pays them an annual or semi-annual epidemic and tuberculosis is an ever present plague. They have perhaps an annual clean up day or week but the spell and its effects are soon over. From appearances the health officer is merely nominal who rests in peace the greater part of the year, unless a few woman "start something." Such apathy usually exists until the price of it is paid in probably some epidemic that costs the town a number of bright young lives.

"Fortunately," said Dr. Cooper, "all small towns are not in the unfortunate class. They are wise enough to make provision against the evil day that is sure to come to the poor (?) town unable to safeguard its health."

PRESIDENT IS AFFECTED.

Sends Reply to Telegram Received From Miss Keller.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 18.—Miss Helen Keller, who yesterday sent telegrams to President Wilson and Governor Spry, of Utah, asking a stay of execution for Joseph Hillstrom, sentenced to die tomorrow, received the following telegram from the President today:

"I was very affected by your telegram and wish most sincerely it was in my power to do something but unhappily there is nothing I can do. The matter lies entirely beyond my jurisdiction and power. I have been deeply interested in the case but am balked of all opportunity."

MANY PANAMA EMPLOYEES ARE LEAVING THE CANAL ZONE

VILLA REPORTED WOUNDED.

Was in Battle With Carranza Forces at Agua de-Coyotes.

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 18.—General Francisco Villa was reported today to have been wounded during a battle last night at Agua de-Coyotes, near Hermosillo, Sonora, between Villa troops and Carranza forces occupying Hermosillo. The information was brought to Nogales, Sonora, by an officer of Villa's army.

Lawson Purdy, New York, was elected president; Clinton Rogles Woodruff, Philadelphia, secretary, and George Burnham, Jr., Philadelphia, treasurer.

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 18.—The fifteenth annual convention of the West Virginia Equal Suffrage Association at the closing session today authorized a budget of $25,930 for use in the fight to obtain the adoption of a woman's suffrage amendment to the state constitution at the polls next November.

Dallas Tex., Nov. 18. — The Liberty Bell left Dallas for Lake Charles, La., tonight, on the last lap of its tour through Texas, four hours and fifty minutes behind schedule. Large crowds viewed the Bell in Texas today and tonight.

Critic and Defender of Wilson Engagement.

George Burkitt, Assistant Postmaster at Winnetka, Ill.

Daniel C. Roper, First Assistant Postmaster General.

George Burkitt, assistant postmaster at Winnetka, Ill., said he thought President Wilson should have waited a year after his wife's death before marrying. Very soon after that he received word from the postmaster that his services were no longer needed. He had been "disloyal to the President." Then he wrote to Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general. Mr. Roper answered that his case had been "formally and finally" reviewed. After the President himself took up the matter the first assistant issued a statement that the case was yet open. Anyway, the President ordered that Mr. Burkitt be restored to his position.

War News at a Glance

The arrival of Lord Kitchener, the British secretary of war, in the Near East apparently has aroused the British troops on the Gallipoli peninsula to renewed activity. Aided by two monitors and a cruiser, Scottish troops have captured Turkish trenches and consolidated them, suffering less than fifty men killed or wounded. The Turks lost at least seventy men killed in the fighting and thirty others buried in trenches blown up in sapping operations.

The British war council has returned from Paris after having effected a closer working contact between the Entente Allies.

Lord Lansdowne, speaking for the British cabinet in the house of lords, declared that the visit of the British war councillors was the most important step yet taken. It is said that an accord was reached on all diplomatic, military and naval questions.

Andrew Bonar-Law, secretary of the colonies, speaking in the House of Commons, said with reference to the Dardanelles campaign that the government would be influenced solely by the military opinion and believed that to be the wisest course.

In the Serbin theatre the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians in the north and west continue to make progress against the Serbs and Montenegrins and are driving them nearer and nearer the Montenegrin frotier. In the south all the French positions have been maintained.

Unofficial dispatches credit the British with the defeat of the Bulgarians on the sector between Vsiandovo and Habrovo. The Bulgarians, however, having taken the Babuna pass from the Serbians, are said to be sweeping forward beyond Philep toward Monastir which is declared to have been virtually evacuated by the populace.

On the Russian front the situation generally is unchanged but offensive movements by the Germans in Courland and on the left bank of the Stir have broken down under Russian artillery fire.

Vienna claims that 2,500 Russians, killed in the recent fighting near Czartorysk, already have been buried by the Austro-European troops.

Artillery engagements and mining operations are going on in France, and Paris reports the destruction of several German positions Goriza is still under the artillery fire of the Italian fire who according to unofficial reports are preparing for a formidable attack on this, the gateway to Trieste with a half million men.

BAPTISTS HARD AT WORK

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 18.—The Baptists are putting in a hard week of practice in final preparation for their annual clash with the Davidson eleven in Charlotte. To Wake Forest this game means more than any one of the season and the coach and squad are exerting themselves to the utmost in an effort to be in the best trim possible when they face Davidson next Thursday.

The final scrimmage before the game was held this afternoon. The men all went into it with plenty of pep and had little difficulty in scoring on the scrubs. Line formations, signal practices, running interferences, and tackling the dummy will constitute the work for the squad the remainder of the week. The Baptists are having a secret practice all this week, and no one will be allowed on the field the rest of the season.
